Britons Agog Over Churchill

Biggest Display of Public Esteem Planned for PM's 80th Birthday

By STANLEY GODFREY

LONDON (AP)—Britons are planning one of the biggest displays of public affection ever seen in these islands for Sir Winston Churchill on his 80th birthday Tuesday.

$280,000 IN CASH FOR WINNIE

LONDON (BUP)—Prime Minister Churchill will receive at least $280,000 on his 80th birthday Tuesday as a gift from the British Commonwealth, it was announced today.

Lord Moynihan, organizer of the Churchill Birthday Fund, said more than 100,000 persons have subscribed and contributions are still pouring in.

Sponsors of the Churchill birthday presentation fund disclosed they have received one anonymous donation of 11 Russian rubles. Another donor sent a cheque for 29,220 farthings—one for each day of Churchill's life, and not forgetting the leap years. A farthing is a quarter of a British penny, and 29,220 of them are worth $85.22.

St. Laurent Sends Salute From Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent on behalf of Canada Sunday night sent a birthday salute to Sir Winston Churchill who will be 80 next Tuesday.

In a statement Mr. St. Laurent said:

"In this country we recall with heartfelt admiration and gratitude the peerless leadership he gave us all in the grim days of the war when the Commonwealth, unaided, was fighting the forces of evil. Sir Winston on those days had become far more than the prime minister of any one country; for all of us his voice was the voice of human freedom and he represented the symbol of unconquerable spirit of free men and women faced with terrible odds.

"Even with victory won, Sir Winston chose not to stand on his already matchless record but to continue to devote unstintingly his great talents of statesmanship to securing the peace.

"Canadians remember his immeasurable service in the cause of freedom in war and peace and they send affectionate greetings to Sir Winston Churchill on his birthday anniversary and wish him strength for the burdens which still lie ahead."

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—President Eisenhower saluted Winston Churchill today as "world statesman" in a message to the British prime minister, who will be 80 Tuesday.

The president saluted Churchill as "world statesman, as unconquerable warrior in the cause of freedom, as our proven friend of many valiant years."

"We have seen the great Anglo-American partnership grow and flourish, with you as one of the staunch advocates," Mr. Eisenhower said. "In the dark times of war, and the anxious ones of uncertain peace, this partnership has sustained us all and given us strength."

Mr. Eisenhower also sent Churchill a personal greeting which was not made public.

His health will be drunk in pubs and clubs throughout Britain. The two houses of Parliament will join in a session of tribute.

There will be gifts for the prime minister ranging from a few tea leaves to a check for something like $100,000, which represents a worldwide shower of donations to the Sir Winston Churchill Birthday Presentation Fund. One guess is that Sir Winston will use the money to set up an international humanitarian fund.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT

The prime minister must sandwich the festivities into a busy round of affairs of state. The birthday coincides with a formal opening of Parliament.

The usually late-to-bed prime minister will start his birthday celebration with a special cup of tea. The tea—two spoonfuls in an envelope with a little sugar—was sent to Churchill as "the only present I can afford" by someone signing himself "an old-age pensioner."

Organizers of the birthday fund said the prime minister, touched by the gift, was reserving it to be drunk in bed as an eye opener.

After breakfast he will dress in a morning coat with tails, striped pants and a silk top for the opening of Parliament.

The Queen will make a ceremonial drive from Buckingham Palace to Whitehall and pomp and pageantry which will set the pace for the rest of the day.

After the Queen has read out the Conservative government's legislative program for the coming year from her gilded throne in the House of Lords, the peers and members of the Commons will troop across to Westminster Hall to give Sir Winston a portrait of himself painted by Graham Sutherland.

The prime minister also will receive a massive leather-bound book containing signatures of Commons members. The front cover is emblazoned in gold with the Churchill coat of arms encircled by the Garter, Britain's highest order of chivalry.

This ceremony will be televised and recorded for transmission to Commonwealth countries.

VOLUME OF TRIBUTES

Afterwards Sir Winston will receive a specially-printed volume of tributes from old friends titled: "Winston Spencer Churchill, servant of the Crown and Commonwealth." The contributors include Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the Aga Khan and an old American friend, Bernard Baruch.

In the afternoon, the prime minister returns to the Commons to make the traditional speech opening the first business session of Parliament. Later, a celebration is planned for him in the House of Lords.

Then in his study at 10 Downing Street, Sir Winston will receive the birthday fund cheque, the first installment of a snowballing appeal. It began with a letter to a newspaper from an old couple living in rural Chichester suggesting a public collection to show the country's affection. The idea caught on quickly and admirers set up the birthday fund. Donations, from many parts of the world, have ranged from $10,000 to pennies from children.

Sir Winston's day will end with close friends after a family dinner.

Britain's famous leader, Sir Winston Churchill, will celebrate his 80th birthday Tuesday. As Sir Winston looks back over his colorful career, tributes will pour in from all corners of the globe. Britain has arranged the

Geo. Robey Dies at 85

SALTDEAN, England (Reuters)—Sir George Robey, 85, the "prime minister of mirth" whose tattered old frock coat and bulbous red nose were the trademarks of one of Britain's best-loved music hall comedians, died at his home here today. He spent 63 years on the stage.

He was knighted in the New Year's honors list this year, and received the accolade from the Queen Mother, sitting in his wheelchair.

Although he made his reputation in music hall, he also appeared between the wars on the legitimate stage. One of his notable successes was the role of Falstaff in Shakespeare's "Henry IV."

He also played Sancho Panza to Chaliapin's Don Quixote in the motion picture of that name, and Tony Weller in the screen production of Pickwick Papers.

He took a touring company to Canada as long ago as 1925.

THE DUNKIRK EVACUATION—HIS FINEST HOUR

So long as the English language survives the tongues and minds of free men everywhere will recall with reverence the speech of Sir Winston Churchill, who, as Britain's indomitable wartime leader, rallied the forces of democracy from the shadows of disaster after the defeat of British and French arms by Hitler's hordes on the bloody beaches of Dunkirk. On the eve of Sir Winston's 80th birthday The Times reprints an extract from his speech on evacuation of Dunkirk, June 4, 1940.

I HAVE, myself, full confidence that if all do their duty, if nothing is neglected, and if the best arrangements are made, as they are being made, we shall prove ourselves once again able to defend our island home, to ride out the storm of war, and to outlive the menace of tyranny, if necessary for years, if necessary alone. At any rate, that is what we are going to try to do. That is the resolve of His Majesty's government—every man of them. That is the will of Parliament and the nation. The British Empire and the French Republic, linked together in their cause and in their need, will defend to the death their native soil, aiding each other like good comrades to the utmost of their strength. Even though large tracts of Europe and many old and famous States have fallen or may fall into the grip of the Gestapo and all the odious apparatus of Nazi rule, we shall not flag or fail. We shall go on to the end, we shall fight in France, we shall fight on the seas and oceans, we shall fight with growing confidence and growing strength in the air, we shall fight on the island whatever the cost may be, we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender, and even if, which I do not for a moment believe, this island or a large part of it were subjugated and starving, then our Empire beyond the seas, armed and guarded by the British Fleet, would carry on the struggle, until, in God's good time, the new world, with all its power and might, steps forth to the rescue and the liberation of the old.

Grandma Says She Killed Four Husbands

Suspected in 7 Other Deaths

(From UP, AP Dispatches)

TULSA, Okla.—A rosy-cheeked "lonely hearts" widow and grandmother who confessed poisoning four of her five husbands apparently killed them "just because they rubbed her the wrong way," authorities said today.

Mrs. Nannie Doss, 49 and pudgy, also is suspected of poisoning her mother, father, two sisters, two daughters and a step-grandson.

She gave police a gap-toothed smile Sunday night when she confessed she killed husbands 2, 3, 4 and 5, "the same way... with rat poison."

The only survivor was husband No. 1, Charles Bragg of Alabama City, Ala., who admitted fear was one reason why he divorced her in 1925 after eight years of marriage.

Tulsa County Attorney Howard Edmondson, who drew up murder charges against the plump widow today, said, "she gave us a different reason for killing every one of them."

NOT FOR MONEY

"She would not have done it for insurance," he said. "She didn't get enough to more than pay funeral expenses. Apparently, she killed them just because they rubbed her the wrong way."

Mrs. Doss showed no remorse and said repeatedly, "my conscience is clear," as she told of the four killings.

At one stage an officer asked her, "which one are you going to tell us about next?"

She giggled and answered, "I'm real sorry you boys have to stay up so late to bother with me. I know you must be tired."

Officers then put her to bed, although they continued investigation regarding the mysterious deaths of other relatives.

CHARGE FILED

Edmondson said a murder charge will be filed today against the 49-year-old plumpish, jovial widow for the Oct. 6 death of Samuel Doss, 58, of Tulsa.

Edmondson said the other poisoned husbands and the dates they died are:

Frank Harrelson, Jacksonville, Ala., 1945; Harley Lanning, Lexington, N.C., 1952; and Richard L. Morton, 64, Emporia, Kan., May 19, 1953.

Two Ships Reported In Distress; 12 Dead

(From UP and CP Dispatches)

LONDON—A severe new Atlantic gale slammed into southern Britain today, threatening to add to the death and destruction caused by four days of winds and floods.

Pelting rain, driven by high winds battered punch-drunk channel shipping and forced frogmen to abandon the hulk of a lightship where seven men were feared dead after a week-end blow capsized it.

The new gale whipped in from the Atlantic at noon and headed northward through England and Wales.

The latest blow hurled new havoc at the English Channel coast where two ships were reported in distress.

Inland, three construction workers plunged 40 feet to their death when wind-buffed scaffolding collapsed, bringing the week-end storm toll to 12.

21 Counties Report Flooding

Meanwhile, rains from the week-end storm caused upland tributaries to pour into the River Thames and bring flooding to 21 counties.

In its path in the heaving Irish Sea were two halves of a split tanker, the World Concord. Both sections of the broken ship were in tow but a warship was standing by with guns ready to fire upon and sink the hulks if towlines snapped under the force of the storm.

A Welsh lifeboat crew plucked 35 crewmen from the rear section of the World Concord Saturday. Coast guardsmen, braving perilous seas, rescued seven others, including the skipper, from the forward section Sunday.

In the English Channel off Dover, Royal Navy frogmen found the body of one of the seven missing men who were considered lost when the South Goodwin lightship capsized Saturday.

As soon as a radio message reported the finding of the first body, ships on the channel and in the neighboring Thames estuary hauled their flags to half-staff.

Almost at the same time, the red cones that signal the approach of another gale were hoisted up along the south and west coasts of England.

In some areas farmers reported disastrous loss of crops. Coastal towns, meanwhile, went to work clearing away the debris left by five days of gales which smashed beach huts and boats, knocked holes in sea walls, blew down hundreds of telephone poles and trees.

Farmers in many parts of England and Wales were in despair, with their fields so saturated they could neither harvest root, wheat, pea and hay crops nor sow their winter wheat.

More than 20,000 acres of wheat remained uncut and on a still greater acreage wheat which was cut lay rotting in the mud. Tractors and harvesting combines were mired by the

WINNIPEG WELCOMES JOYOUS EDMONTON FANS

One Esk Supporter Reported To Have Won $50,000 in Bets

WINNIPEG (CP)—Edmonton football fans homeward bound today were a mighty happy crew.

They accomplished what they set out to do. Their Eskimos were returning home with the Grey Cup after a 26-25 victory over Montreal Alouettes in Toronto Saturday.

And the fans themselves were joyously fingering all the eastern money in their wallets.

For at odds ranging from even money on a 13-point spread to 5-to-1, "Every one made money," said Tommy Visser, one of the fans who passed through Winnipeg today aboard the CPR special that arrives in Edmonton Tuesday.

Mr. Visser said one Edmonton fan, whom he did not identify, made $50,000 in bets. Another made $5,000 and yet another $4,500, he said.

Most fans had regained their voices after a week-end of merry-making. Mrs. Mamie McNabb, vice-president of the Eskimos' Ladies Quarterback Club, said the Toronto reception was "terrific" and Saturday's game "the most exciting and dramatic" she had ever seen.

The scene at the CPR station—where fans swirled along the concourse singing and snacking—was duplicated at the CNR station where a second special train stopped over for several minutes.

Those who could sing chanted: "The old Grey Cup, it's go-ing where it ought to go, back home to Edmonton," and "Has Walker, way down yonder in anybody here seen Peahead the popo patch?"

THOUSANDS LINE Toronto streets as Grey Cup parade reaches City Hall square.

West Agrees To Meet Reds 'If and When'

LONDON (UP)—The United States, Britain and France today formally submitted to Russia the proposal of French Premier Pierre Mendes-France that the Big Four foreign ministers meet after the western European union and German rearmament plans are ratified.

HELPED BRICKLAYERS

Churchill Had Fun Here Back in 1929

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, 80 years of age Tuesday, visited here a quarter century ago.

Thousands of Victorians remember the occasion. He was accompanied by his son, Randolph, and brother, Major John Churchill. They were guests of Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce.

The human qualities of Churchill were to the fore, as ever. When being ushered into the Government House limousine, he said to the lieutenant governor, with a courtly bow: "After the King's representative," and helped the governor into the car.

While here he visited the Legislative Buildings and called on Attorney-General Harry Pooley, acting premier in the absence of Dr. S. F. Tolmie.

Nearly 900 persons crowded the ballroom of the Empress Hotel when Mr. Churchill addressed the Canadian Club. He said then, which reflects England's policy 25 years later: "We are anxious that Germany should resume her place in the family circle of Europe. . . We have very old and highly-valued associations with Japan. I have always found my confidence in the government and people of Japan strengthened by their conduct in peace and war. Let us be of good cheer; let us have confidence in the future."

While here he went motoring over the Malahat, fished off the breakwater with Norman A. Yarrow, and inspected Christ Church Cathedral, then being built.

Fred Parfitt, superintendent of the job, suggested that since Mr. Churchill held his bricklayer's union card, he might like to lay a piece of cement in the northwest corner. So Mr. Churchill shinnied up a ladder and went to work, mentioning something about the cement being too stiff.

It was his one and only visit to this city.

HISS FREED SATURDAY; VOWS TO CLEAR NAME

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Alger Hiss, looking grim and rather haggard but appearing confident, walked to freedom Saturday, asserting he was "completely innocent" of charges that he helped Communist spies.

A stretch of three and a half years behind the bars of Lewisburg Prison ended with an avowal by the 50-year-old former State Department aide that he meant to "vindicate my name" of the stigma of a conviction for perjury. He had denied before a federal grand jury that he never gave State Department secrets to Red spies.

Crash Ends Airman's Plan To Pass His Old Age Here

Relatives of a war-veteran pilot who killed in a Saskatchewan plane crash last Friday said the victim intended moving to Victoria on retiring from the air force.

FO B. F. Whitson, 37, a native of Fort Saskatchewan, near Edmonton, and FO John N. Hultman, 31, of Vancouver, were killed when their single-engine Harvard crashed in a field near Broadview, Sask., 100 miles east of Regina.

Mr. and Mrs. William Carstairs, 1248 May Street, the parents of FO Whitson's wife, said: "We wanted to come here to live when he retired. He said the Uplands was the place for him."

Mrs. Carstairs said FO Whitson was one of the first Canadians to fly overseas at the outbreak of the Second World War. He spent four and a half years in a German prison camp, and after

The three Western powers placed their proposal before the Kremlin as part of a five-point, step-by-step program looking toward European security.

CONDITIONS LAID DOWN

The Western notes were revised at the last moment to include the French premier's dramatic proposal of a week ago to the United Nations for such a meeting. Mendes-France suggested then that the conference might be held next May.

The notes—firmly brushed aside Russia's invitation to an "all-European" security conference which opened today in Moscow with only the Red satellites attending.

The witness in Dr. Sheppard's first-degree murder trial was Dr. E. Richard Hexter of Bay Village. He was summoned by the coroner to examine the 30-year-old osteopath a few hours after the time Dr. Sam had said he was knocked out in a struggle with Marilyn Sheppard's killer.

Dr. Sheppard's brothers, who were colleagues and fellow staff members with him at Bay View Hospital in Bay Village, had said he suffered severe neck injuries including a fractured vertebra.

SICKNESS, INJURIES PLAGUE PM

Miracle Churchill Ever Got To Be 80

Premature Baby, Had Pneumonia, Fell From Tree, Pony, Camel

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UP)—Sir Winston Churchill will be 80 Tuesday. Looking back over his long career he may wonder how he got there.

He was a premature baby. Had a chest weakness at eight, double pneumonia at nine. Fell out of a tree and was unconscious three days when 18, suffered a serious shoulder injury at 21.

He fell off a camel at 47, off a polo pony at 48, into a lake at 52.

At one time or another he also suffered from gastro-enteritis, appendicitis, tonsillitis, skin trouble, eye trouble, lung trouble, seasickness, hernia. He has survived two strokes.

He was in the room in which a shell burst in 1916, in a plane crash in 1919, knocked down by a New York taxicab in 1931, 50 yards from a German shell-burst in 1945, 50 yards from a bomb that almost dropped a chandelier on him during the blitz.

Where Churchill differs from most men is that he refuses

After-Lunch Nap Habit From Cuba

He shaves with a safety razor, bathes and dresses, usually in a black coat with striped trousers and blue polka dot tie. Then he confers with his ministers, firing specific questions at them and then entering into a general discussion.

A "ter lunch" (an aperitif before and brandy and cigar after), the PM takes a short nap. He picked up the siesta habit as a young war correspondent in Cuba.

Then he is off to parliament, later to Buckingham Palace and often to a banquet or late cabinet meeting. It is near midnight before he is in pajamas again dictating to a secretary the last thoughts of the day.

As befits a man who is a legend in his own lifetime, Churchill is the hub of countless anecdotes.

This story circulates about his first meeting with Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery. "I don't use either alcohol or tobacco and I'm 100 per cent efficient," said Montgomery. "I use both," replied Churchill, "and my efficiency is 200 per cent."

Churchill is the most feared man in Commons in debate. He once referred to Socialist leader Clement Attlee as "a sheep in sheep's clothing."

He loves all animals, even the ducks and geese on his estate. A guest remembers him exclaiming to his wife, Clementine, after plunging the knife into the Sunday goose: "You carve him, Clemmy. He was a friend of mine."

According to one somewhat doubtful story, Churchill paused while making his historic "We will fight them on the beaches" speech after the fall of Dunkirk. He covered the microphone with his hand, turned aside and muttered:

"We will hit them over the head with beer bottles which is all we have to fight with."

Bao Dai Fires Van Hinh as Chief Of Viet Nam Army

PARIS (UP)—Chief of State Bao Dai today fired army chief of staff Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh in a sensational new turn in the tumultuous politics of Viet Nam.

Bao Dai signed an imperial decree dismissing Van Hinh, who has been feuding with Viet Nam Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Bao Dai recently has given Van Hinh votes of confidence during the internal crisis which has paralyzed free Viet Nam and laid it open to increasing Communist pressure.

If Bao Dai's decree meant that the general has lost his struggle with Diem, there was a possibility that Van Hinh's supporters and, in particular, the upper cadre of the national army might rebel against the government.

PLOT TO KILL SELASSIE FOILED IN SWITZERLAND

GENEVA, Switzerland (BUP)—Police under orders to "shoot to kill," guarded Haile Selassie during a six-hour stopover here Sunday night, possibly frustrating a plot to assassinate the bearded Ethiopian emperor.

Swiss authorities were warned in advance of the emperor's visit that a "group of foreigners" would try to kill him while he was in Geneva, and extreme precautions were ordered to protect the visiting monarch.

No assassination attempt developed.

Father of A-Bomb, Enrico Fermi, Dies

Italian-Born Physicist Gave World Atomic Power Through Controlled Nuclear Release

CHICAGO (AP)—Enrico Fermi, Italian-born physicist whose controlled release of nuclear energy made atomic power a reality, died of cancer Sunday.

The 53-year-old Nobel prize winner first suggested the possibility of an atomic bomb to U.S. government officials in 1939. His first atomic pile, activated on the squash court under the west stands of Stagg Field at the University of Chicago in Dec., 1942, provided the key to manufacture of the A-bomb.

Although Fermi had been ill for some time, his death came as a shock to his physicist associates at Chicago's Institute of Nuclear Studies.

His death immediately brought official condolence from Italy, including a cable to Mrs. Fermi from Italian president Luigi Einaudi, saying Fermi "has linked his name for centuries to come with the progress of science."

Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the atomic energy commission mourned him as "one of the world's greatest atomic physicists."

Fermi underwent abdominal surgery at Billings Memorial Hospital in October and was a patient there for several weeks. When he was named by the Atomic Energy Commission the winner of its first $26,000 special award in the nuclear field Nov. 16, Fermi was too ill to come to the telephone for comment.

He died at 2:30 a.m. in the south side home where he lived with his wife, Laura.

Fermi, the son of a railroad official, was born in Rome, Sept. 29, 1901, and studied at the universities of Pisa, Leyden and Göttingen. He became professor of theoretical physics at the University of Rome in 1927.

With fellow scientists, Fermi began a series of experiments in 1934 which resulted in splitting of the uranium atom.

Awarded Nobel Prize in 1938

For his leadership in this work, Fermi was awarded the Nobel prize in 1938, and went to Sweden to receive it. The scientist, who had been at odds with Mussolini's Fascist movement, refused to wear a uniform or give the Fascist salute at the ceremony and was criticized in the Italian press. Shortly after that, he took his family, including two children, Nella and Giulio, to the United States where they remained.

At Columbia University, Fermi learned of German fission experiments which released enormous quantities of energy. He immediately suggested that neutrons might be emitted during the process, a guess which suggested that such neutrons, bombarding other atoms at tremendous speed, might produce a chain reaction.

Experiments in several laboratories suggested there might be enormous energy available for explosives in uranium, and Fermi was chosen by physicists taking part in the experiments to confer with representatives of the U.S. Navy department in March, 1939. In that conference, he suggested that by slowing fission-released neutrons a controlled chain reaction could be achieved.

Walthamstow Avenue Upsets Rangers 4-0

LONDON (Reuters) — Walthamstow Avenue upset Queen's Park Rangers, 4-0, today in the second replay of their Football Association Cup first-round match. The game was played at Arsenal's ground, Highbury.

The two previous games ended in draws and even the fact that Walthamstow Avenue, a non-league team, could hold the English League third-division Rangers on even terms twice was a surprise.

Today's victory means Walthamstow will be at home to Darlington in the second round

PWs' Protest 'Unacceptable' Reds Declare

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China Sunday rejected as "unacceptable" a United States protest against imprisonment of 13 Americans on spy charges. The British government notified the State Department of the Red Chinese action.

State department officials, it was learned, already had under consideration further measures for action against Communist China and indications were that a naval blockade was among the possibilities being considered.

Officially informants would say only that "all appropriate measures are being considered." They said this answer covered inquiries about state department reaction to the suggestion of Senate leader William Knowland (Rep., Calif.) for a naval blockade. Knowland spoke out at a press conference Saturday.

Privately diplomatic experts saw little evidence of favor for a blockade policy, which they thought would involve new U.S. military commitments in the Far East. The Eisenhower administration has for several months been following a policy of trying to minimize incidents and get peace as widely established as possible in that area.

BLOCKADE FEASIBLE

One of the arguments apparently in favor of a blockade is that it is one of the forcible actions which could be taken by U.S. decision.

Other possible forcible measures would appear to involve some kind of direct military action such as was considered at the time of the Korean war stalemate, including bombing of Red Chinese military targets, but there has been no suggestion to date that any such course would be considered now as "appropriate measures."

The Chinese regime at Peking announced last Tuesday that 11 American airmen and two civilian employees of the U.S. Army had been tried on spy charges and sentenced to prison terms.

Friday the state department denounced the charges as "baseless" and demanded release of the 13 forthwith.

Meanwhile, the United States and Nationalist China have substantially agreed on terms of a defense treaty by which American protection will be pledged to Formosa, the Pescadores and possibly some coastal islands held by the Nationalists.

The pact is expected to be signed before the end of the year, following further talks here soon between Nationalist Foreign Minister George Yeh and state department officials.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government, it was understood, wanted assurance of automatic U.S. participation in defense of all Nationalist-held islands. That would have blanketed in scores of small coastal islands like Quemoy and the Tachens, which the Reds have attacked in recent months.

REPLYING TO HIS INTRODUCTION as chairman of a Salvation Army farewell salute to retiring Canadian Commissioner and Mrs. W. R. Dalziel, is Premier W. A. C. Bennett, introduced as a strong supporter of the United Church. "B.C. is fortunate in having for a premier a man with such strong Christian principles and prepared to stick by them," Senior Major Walter Oakley said. (Times Photo.)

Retiring Salvationist Chief Pins Faith in Modern Youth

Today's youth needs only firm principles with which to work and it will solve its own problems, retiring Salvation Army Commissioner, William R. Dalziel said at a Victoria Citadel meeting Sunday.

The commissioner, head of Salvation Army work in Canada and Bermuda, and his wife, who is head of women's social services of the Army in Canada, were honored at a farewell salute on the occasion of their retirement from active service Dec. 31.

The gathering was attended by more than 200 persons representing the Salvation Army, private citizens, service clubs and the city of Victoria, and was presided over by Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

Commissioner Dalziel spoke of the importance of the church in home life and the upbringing of youth.

CHURCH IS KEYSTONE

"Youth has an intelligence and outlook to solve his own problems," if the importance of the church has been stressed, the speaker said.

It was never more necessary than it is today for the church to show a united front, Commissioner Dalziel told his listeners. "Christianity," he said, "is not simply a religion. It is saturated with family terms and ideals," and it is first something that is caught in the home "by contagion, not construction or instruction."

Although the Dalzels are leaving official active service, both expect to continue in Salvation Army work.

Mrs. Dalziel told the gathering she considers the 25 years she worked in women's social services a "sacred privilege" and "if I were starting over I would do the same thing, only better, perhaps."

She had high praise for the 200 women in Canada who work in the Army's social services, which "offer a unique service for women."

the city were tendered by Ald. W. F. Pinfold.

German Vote Rebuke To Rearmament Policy

Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union Suffers Total Vote Slump in Two States

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer pressed forward today in his fight to river West Germany to the Atlantic Alliance after parrying a determined challenge, to German rearmament in two state elections.

The chancellor's Christian Democratic Union lost ground in Sunday's voting in both the states of Bavaria and Hesse, but held control of the Bavarian state government. This insured the Adenauer regime's retention of its two-thirds majority in the Upper House of the federal parliament Bundesrat, whose members are named by the state governments.

The voting outcome also raised the possibility that a coalition dominated by the Christian Democrats could supplant the Socialist government in Hesse. This would give the federal regime 30 of the 38 Bundesrat seats, instead of the 26 they now hold.

To ward off any Socialist challenge in the courts, Adenauer wants a two-thirds endorsement in both houses of the federal parliament for the Paris agreements to raise 500,000 German troops under the banner of the North Atlantic alliance.

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Soak your plates in Polident daily to avoid "Denture Breath"

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth—and breath—clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules:

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.
2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."
3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only... Polident! Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

Exporting Our Capital Assets

THE SPECIFIC QUESTION OF THE Arrow Lake dam has been broadened by Mr. Bennett and Mr. Sommers far beyond a single project on the Columbia River system into a broad declaration of power policy.

The British Columbia Government, it now appears, is not only determined to sell certain power to the Kaiser aluminum interests of the United States; it favors the export of power as a general principle. It regards power as only another commodity, such as timber, fish or apples, which properly should be exported if we can get a satisfactory price for it.

On this principle the British Columbia and Federal Governments par company, and the Arrow Lake project is chiefly important as clarifying that principle in a vital test case.

Until the early years of the Mackenzie King Government Canada allowed substantial exports of power to the United States. Mr. King finally repealed that policy and notified the American Government that, as a rule, Canada would restrict exports. The new policy which began then and is still in effect is based on two premises.

First, as Canada found to its sorrow in the case of some Ontario power, it is impossible to halt the export of power once it has begun, even after the contract with American customers has expired. When American factories and communities have been built on Canadian power, a friendly neighbor cannot pull the switch at its convenience, even if it is legally entitled to do so by the words of the contract.

An arrangement like the Pacific Northwest international grid is different, of course, since it enables Canada and the United States to exchange power in times of surplus or shortage. But the Arrow Lake project and most other projects of that sort permanently commit us to export power, or water for power, in fixed and unalterable quantities.

Secondly, the Federal Government does not regard power as an exportable commodity like other commodities but as a capital asset which, if it is not all required in Canada now, may well be required for our own industries not long hence. The owner of a factory exports its output. He cannot export its machinery without going out of business.

Mr. Bennett argues that the Federal Government is inconsistent when it advocates "free trade" and yet refuses to allow power exports.

The Government, of course, has never advocated free trade and has not even said that power must never be exported. It has encouraged the export of our annual output of goods to the largest possible extent and has rejected the high-tariff, protectionist policies advocated by the national Social Credit Party (with which Mr. Bennett seems to be in total disagreement on this score.) But it believes that we should not export, except in very special circumstances, the future fuel of our own industry when that fuel—unlike our annual output of goods—is limited and may all be required here as our population grows.

That is the issue between Ottawa and Victoria now fully clarified by Mr. Bennett.

It may turn out, after investigation, that Canada should approve the Arrow Lake dam for the benefit of American interests simply because we are unable to use the water there to make power within Canada, though that has yet to be proved. Assuredly no permanent commitment to American interests should be made until the whole Columbia system and its possible uses by Canadian industries have been fully surveyed.

Finally, the Federal Government is right in saying that we should never export power, even where we feel obliged to export it, on the kind of terms offered by Mr. Bennett at Arrow Lake.

He proposes to let American interests impound our water to make extra power south of the border and to pay us in return either cash or twenty per cent of the extra power. The Federal Government holds that we should get at least fifty per cent of such power. It is opposed to the Arrow Lake deal as setting a precedent which would tie our hands in much larger projects elsewhere.

In short, this deal, if ultimately proved to be justifiable on engineering grounds, is an improvident deal and the Federal Government has every right, both in law and good economics, to reject it.

'Until Changes Are Made'

FORMER ALDERMAN AND one-time mayoralty candidate Percy B. Scurrah has decided not to stand for election to the city council this year.

This does not reflect a lack of interest in Victoria's welfare on Mr. Scurrah's part. He is "greatly concerned over the affairs of the city as reported by the press" and the "low ebb" to which Victoria's prestige has been reduced.

Under most circumstances this state of mind would persuade a loyal citizen to enter the lists to do something about the situation. He has no inclination to take that course "until" certain changes are brought about.

"There are," he says, "many things which could and should be done if we were not frustrated by legal technicalities."

What does this add up to? It adds up to a simple conclusion: The type of leadership prevailing at the city hall discourages a man who is otherwise prepared to serve. Presumably Mr. Scurrah does not choose to run because there is no opportunity for those "certain changes" until the biennial election for mayor next year.

TUC and the Color Problem

BRITAIN'S TRADES UNION Congress needs little tutelage in handling advocates of discrimination against colored workers.

When a Midlands delegate rose to insinuate the question into the TUC's recent Coventry meeting, the chair permitted him to speak and then nipped off discussion with a short "Next business." The assembly cheered.

This does not, of course, remove the problem created by the influx of labor from the West Indies. Nor does it provide a solution. It does, however, reflect a recognition by the TUC that a solution will not be assisted by inflammatory talk.

The problem of the colored worker in Britain will not be eliminated merely by ignoring it. It will, on the other hand, be eased by quiet, level-headed consideration which avoids harsh animosities within the ranks of the unions. The TUC in its experience and wisdom has averted one explosion on the issue. Whatever compromise it reaches eventually, it should not have to start by re-establishing harmony in its own forces.

Great Literature?

WHEN THE NOBEL PRIZE authorities gave their award for literature to Ernest Hemingway that distinction automatically made the powerful American author feature material for the book sections of topical magazines.

New Republic treats him as such. But Mr. Hemingway does not get first billing. He takes second place to that great American classic, the annual Sears-Roebuck fall and winter catalogue.

Here, surely, is something to raise the eyebrows of the literati. A reputable magazine, with hundreds of books, serious works and light novels, to choose from, gives pride of place to a commercial listing of goods for sale.

Is the Sears-Roebuck catalogue the clearest expression possible of the American dream? Foreigners who criticize the country's materialist philosophy, its passion for gadgetry, will assert it is.

The New Republic reviewer finds substance in the catalogue of a very different nature. It still draws attention to manual pumps, carbide lamps, pot-bellied heaters and those jewels of a pioneering past that have become Americana. It still sees the rural in the highly urban U.S. scene. It still recognizes a national character some of the softer city dwellers had considered lost.

This is all subject matter which may have literary content.

How, then, the presentation? Well, there are words and sentences in the Sears-Roebuck catalogue. They are obviously written in a technique of simplicity adapted to the widest possible readership. Is this, too, the new American literary style?

Move over, Mr. Hemingway.

Going in All the Way?

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

A COUPLE of weeks ago I was seeing a good deal of an eight-year-old neighbor. His parents had gone away on a holiday, leaving him in charge of a housekeeper about whom they knew little and cared less.

The housekeeper was not a woman of many ideas. But in so far as she was capable of holding onto an idea at all, her main idea was to keep the little boy out of the house. And in that very restricted sense she was quite literally a housekeeper all right, for she kept the house to herself and kept the boy out. In all weathers and all stages of what, in November, we call daylight. If he told her that he must obey nature's calls, she more or less indicated that many are called but few chosen, and she called down from her castle tower and told him to beat it.

HE turned up at my house one day and announced he had been nailed out of his home. I said he meant locked out, but he said no, nailed out. With a hammer and nails. He has a pretty fair imagination, so I just smiled tolerantly, until my children told me they had seen the woman nailing one of the windows shut. If I had been that boy I would have started breaking window panes. But it was none of my business. The kid seemed happy enough while he was playing here.

I was happy too. His main game was a frightful and endless struggle between Good and Evil in the persons of two very active characters (played by lead soldiers) named Mayor and Majesty. Mayor was the good guy and Majesty was the bad guy. I suspect my young chum of being an anti-royalist. From time to time he would utter horrible yells, to represent Mayor being pushed out of an aircraft by Majesty, or Majesty being held under water by Mayor. When Mayor was being pushed out of the plane he yelled so loud that my wife was suddenly convinced I had cut my hand off with the axe.

SHE forgets that after my one serious mishap with an axe I was dead silent. The louder I yell in the basement, the more it means things are quite normal. If I roar like W. H. Hudson's friend in the Argentine, the man who could make a bull drop dead by roaring at it, it simply means I have been having a little quarrel with fate or with inanimate objects. Objects push me round, a good deal, but I can roar at them and they can't roar at me. They can't answer back at all. The Devil over-looked this. Sometimes my roar simply means I have suddenly remembered some uncouth word or deed of my own. When my mother was embarrassed by a memory she used to groan, in bed in the dark. My wife whistles, in the kitchen. I yell, in the basement. It helps to get the dust off the beams.

INCIDENTALLY, this game of Mayor and Majesty was taking place at a time when my old friend Charlotte Whitton, Mayor of Ottawa, was busy entertaining the Queen Mother. So that Charlotte was, in a way, playing Mayor and Majesty too. And very well she plays it, I am quite certain, and with honest enjoyment and a good deal of the old pep and zip nicely-blended with pomp and circumstance. But I am quite certain, also, that Charlotte would not have been at all interested in a game where Majesty is a bad guy who pushes Mayor into any convenient gulch.

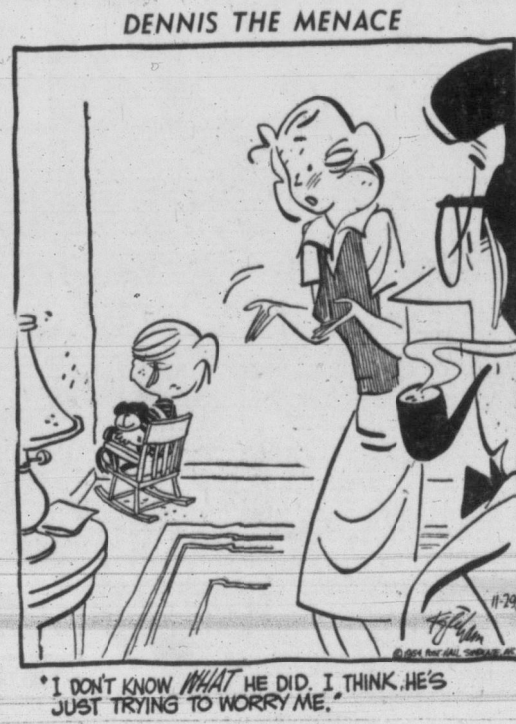

A FULL REPORT (BANG, BANG)

ANOTHER young friend recently brought home a report card from school. This is not the place for me to say what I think of report cards under the present system. . . . the system which assumes a report is a factually vague message to the child rather than a frank one to the parent. All I am telling you here is that the teacher felt the child was doing "allright," spelt as a single word. This is not English (see Fowler, who says allright, allright, and all-right are equally offensive). I think I shall have to ask that teacher to repeat his year. A strapping or a detention or a U on his report card would not be enough.

EAT MORE RAISINS

MY friends in the Aluminum Company, of whom I have several, keep telling me aluminum is the metal of the future, and of the present too. No doubt they are right, or partly right. But it must irk them considerably to notice how the word "iron" clings in so many of our common phrases. Clings magnetically so to say. As a shareholder (a very small one) in their firm, I propose that we strike out the word "iron" wherever we can (or wherever we align) and substitute the word "aluminum." It might even add new power to dead or dying metaphors.

INSTEAD of a captain having an insolent sailor put in irons, he would have him put in aluminums. And immediately at that . . . strike while the aluminums hot. We could talk about the aluminums hand in the velvet glove though hardly about the Man in the Aluminum Mask. It might not be very complimentary to our new metal to say of a bloodless creature that the aluminum has entered into his soul. But I shall have a stab at it. If that one phrase dies on me, I don't mind, for I have other aluminums in the fire. But to any who wish to join this little crusade, I had better point out that iron and iron are not the same word. To call an ironist an aluminums would mock the reader. What a thing to do.

DEFENSE AGAINST MCCARTHYISM

In a recent editorial "Background for McCarthyism," various factors making for McCarthyism are indicated—the man himself being aptly described as a "manifestation" rather than a cause of this mass-mind condition. But the conclusion is that everything so far considered "provides only a part of the explanation" for this and similar situations. Endorsing this analysis—may still another factor in the McCarthyism make-up be suggested?

Along with our innate tendency to co-operate—combine for the common good, exists another tendency or at least potential, in striking contrast to the social impulse. It is the ancient anti-social urge to hate, destroy whatever is not understood—a sort of jungle hangover but finding easy expression where difference of color, creed or culture occurs.

Historian Toynbee reminds us how common, throughout history, has been the "hoyegman", a scapegoat to provide convenient outlet for suppressed feelings of frustration, resentment, hate.

For hundreds of years Islam was the "goat", until prolonged Crusade contact began to separate fact from fiction.

Of course, behind the hoyegman is the real man who uses him as a sort of "Charlie McCarthy" by whose aid he can rise to prominence and power.

The obvious answer to McCarthyism is education for better understanding of ourselves and our fellows everywhere. Above all, is the need for our children to be encouraged, in home and school, to develop more independent judgment, general awareness, ability to separate the real from the imaginary—thus building up effective resistance to McCarthyism and the hoyegman.

CHURCH AND STATE

In his letter in your issue of Nov. 13, R. E. Robinson implies that separation of church and state is incompatible with the recognition of the rights of parents in the education of their children. Such extreme interpretations of this claim would have a democracy insist on a state completely godless, and a church completely dissociated from the welfare of its citizens.

Both Canada and the United States have rejected such an interpretation as contrary to our democratic way of life. That is why both countries do not hesitate to open their parliaments, both federal and regional, with prayer. Both insist on placing on their money the name of God. In Canada our gracious Queen is sovereign "Gratia Dei" "by the grace of God, and in United States, "In God we trust" is found on its coinage.

That is why both governments arrange with Protestant, Catholic and Jewish churches for chaplaincies in their armed services, and for churches, chapels and church schools on military bases. That is why our own federal government makes no distinction in granting subsidies to non-denominational and denominational universities and in recognizing schools of our Indian population.

That is why every province in Canada, except B.C., recognizes the rights of parents in the education of their children. We try all this in not separation of church and state. Rather it is the co-operation of both in the realization of that equity and justice basic to any democratic form of government.

THANKS FROM THE HANDICAPPED

The firemen of Victoria, Saanich and Oak Bay deserve highest public recognition for their efforts in the nation-wide drive to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada.

Little is known about this killer disease in this part of the country. But to those of us who are victims of its relentless ravages it is a nightmare reality. The hope that medical science through research will ultimately find a way to conquer this merciless killer is strong in our hearts.

It is, therefore, with a sense of deepest gratitude that we wish to record our thanks to the firemen of Greater Victoria for their unselfish, warm-hearted endeavor to assist in bringing this hope close to realization by picking up contribution envelopes distributed by the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada.

Finally, may I say that every fire department in the U.S.A. in every city, town and hamlet has actively engaged in this humanitarian effort. Nor did they count any sacrifice too great if it brought one little spark of hope to the millions suffering from this disease.

The firemen of Victoria are equally determined to do their part. More power to them.

In this, as in everything else, the viewpoint depends on where you are sitting and when you are sitting in a wheel chair, things look mighty different.

SO MANY RELIGIONS

The letter printed in the Victoria Daily Times of mine of November 10th regarding S'parale Schools seems to have disturbed a correspondent by what he terms its vague generalization without an objective.

His letter is quite understandable, in so far that it is an entirely one-sided view quite in order with the teaching of the Roman Catholic religion. But, as I pointed out in my letter, there are so many religions and that is why, under the present economic system of taxation it would be impossible to cater financially to every sectarian group.

That also is why religion, in all its variety, should not, and could not be taught in Public schools out of justice to the minds of all the children. Another angle is, that the moral fibre of a "faith" to be taught all children should be woven into pattern by both parents and the church, and is something apart from the secular obligations compulsory to all citizens in a democratic country in the 20th century.

WITHELD GIFTS OF SCIENCE?

Some people seem to think that science and invention have made mankind more efficient and reliable.

This may be true in some cases but not in all. Some years ago half a dozen men could build a five roomed house in two or three months at the most. Now it takes a small army of men much longer with all the latest labor saving devices. Furthermore these men get at least three times as much wages as carpenters used to get.

This kind of inefficiency is seen everywhere especially where union labor is employed.

However the truth of the matter is that instead of new inventions and other scientific knowledge making goods and services cheaper they become money-makers for privileged groups.

A good example of this is found in the medical field where wonderful discoveries have been made that will restore health and prolong life.

But instead of benefitting, all mankind most of these discoveries are only available to people with plenty of money while the medical profession and drug manufacturers reap huge profits.

PICTURES OF SLAUGHTER

Mr. Keate's article "The Man Who Shot the Swan" is one of the best examples of speaking the mind the writer has seen in a long time, and it is a certainty that it met with the approval of most of your readers.

It is, of course, more than probable that the person who wantonly killed this rare and beautiful bird did so in ignorance, as, thanks to our present so-called game laws, a large percentage of these animal and bird killers know as little about wild life as they do about the use of firearms.

The time is long past for facing the fact that public opinion is strongly against the wholesale slaughter of our wildlife under the guise of sport. Another fact that should be recognized is that the public stomach is inevitably upset by the sight of those pictures showing the "mighty hunters" with the bodies of the victims of their blood lust better, even in death, manage to look better than their killers. It would be a pleasure to know that such pictures would be banned in future and the writer is unable to think of anyone in a better position to do anything about it than Mr. Stu Keate.

CERTIFIED ENGINEERS

In the Times of November 24, on page 3, there is a pictured group of Victoria engineers displaying membership certificates. The printed matter says these are certificates of membership in the B.C. Engineering Society, whereas they are certificates of membership in the Association of Professional Engineers, as can be read in the picture.

The B.C. Engineering Society is a "side" organization which has no legal status under the British Columbia Engineering Act.

I should like a correction of the misstatement which accompanies the picture.

THE TEST OF THE SPUD . . .

Astonishing news. You report a Vancouver Island man becomes B.C. champion potato grower. I have never found a good eating potato grown on the Island. Wonder what the growers around Vernon, Ashcroft and Grand Forks, where all the good flowery B.C. potatoes come from, are thinking.

As one who grew up on Island, I have enquired why. I am told because the soil here is not suitable. Good looking, yes; quantity, yes, but not for the table of a potato lover.

By the way, congratulations to Mr. Halkett who will have to work hard to obtain a more beautiful picture than you printed on Saturday the 20th.

REMEMBERED WITH AFFECTION

In the passing of Mrs. Hine, our neighborhood has suffered the loss of its most loved and revered member.

Although having no blood relatives in this country, her loyal friends are many. They knew she was living alone but realized that even at her great age she was not only capable but desirous of managing by herself. Up until the last few weeks of her life she faithfully made her Sunday morning journey to church by bus.

It is for the kindly, courteous help extended to her by the Beckwith bus drivers that we, her neighbors, wish to show our appreciation to them by acknowledging it through your columns.

MARKED for READING

THE NOVELIST'S PUBLIC

A book's an experience, a great book is a deep, a powerful experience. Why shouldn't people whose lives are hard-lived and hard-felt understand what Tolstoy or James mean for them? I know a docker and his wife who read James, who read all the classics, and enjoy them intensely. They live in a pre-fab but they're on intimate terms with some of the most interesting, the most exciting minds that ever existed. A novelist's public is not a class public. Great scholars often read tripe, and very simple people enjoy the masters. What's more, they can enjoy a variety of masters—they can belong to many different publics.

—Joyce Cary, the well-known British novelist.

Challenge

THERE are few things that I enjoy more than a good old fighting editorial. In these days of socially-adjusted pussy-footers, it's a relief to find someone stating in fine, clear prose what a lot of Canadians have been thinking for a long, long time.

That's why I so enjoyed the editorial, "Where Is Our Spiritual Leadership?" in the November 6 issue of Saturday Night.

I found it first reprinted in a mainland paper, a sure indication that it says something that needs saying. I've cut it out and pinned it on the notice board we've made of the upper panel of one of our kitchen doors.

It should, I hope, give the younger generation a new slant on the pamphlets that are left upon our doorstep from time to time by a grey-haired woman with a pinched-up mouth, whom I described in a column last May.

The editorial was prompted, evidently, by a remark by Major-General L. J. Pike, chaplain general of the British Army, that there was a great need for ministers in the world, especially in Canada. There was a "great thirst for the Word of God," said Major-General Pike.

He might have added, the editorial suggests: "That few of those now calling themselves Christian ministers, in Canada at least, are doing anything to assuage the thirst." Their energies are dissipated in petty rivalries, in pink teas and bazaars, in devices for collecting money. They have little time left for feeding that faith in the Eternal without which man is less than a beast."

There are exceptions, the editorial concedes, but they are too few "to halt the slump of this country's ministry into a sort of peevish materialism."

Consequently, the work of Christianity is going by default to the witch doctors, the quacks and the experimenters produced by an age with an almost religious belief in the power of science. (The psychiatrist's couch is replacing the family pew!)

If great numbers of men have put their faith in money or the intellect of other men, the editorial continues, it is because they have been failed by the preachers of Christianity, who have been so eager to destroy other beliefs that they have made a mockery of their own.

But for my money, I'll take the paragraph, "How can faith in a doctrine of love and compassionate understanding be inspired by men who spend their time squabbling about inconsequential differences in creed and striving with angry and intolerant energy to impose their own narrow views of morality on everyone?"

And THAT should give some of the fundamentalists among us food for thought.

"In Canada," the editorial concludes, perhaps a trifle harshly, "the symbol of two thousand years of Christian ministry is a beautiful shell of a church with a bazaar or a bingo game in the basement."

A challenging editorial, the mainland paper called it.

But in this world, unfortunately, you often have to make people angry, before you can make them think.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

How to Choose a Doctor

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

One of the big problems of people today is how to find a good doctor or a good doctor for their particular need at the time. Today, many a well-to-do family, living in a suburb, has several physicians; the husband may have one, and the wife may have another. When the husband's stomach misbehaves he may go to a gastroenterologist in the city, and when his joints get stiff and painful he may go to a physiotherapist. When the wife gets pregnant she will go to her obstetrician, and when the children are seriously ill she will call their pediatrician.

Alvarez

A good family physician will always call a consultant when one is needed, and the patient will be grateful for this service. I think my patients are almost as grateful to me when I refer them to a specialist who cures them, as they would have been if I had been able to cure them myself.

Having tried hard in my book, "Danger Signals," to write a chapter on how to find a good doctor, I was the more prepared to appreciate the fine job Mrs. Alice Lake has done, writing recently in a magazine on this subject. She tells how she had to try out several doctors before she found one whom she and her husband liked and who later became the family friend and counselor. She had some unhappy experiences with physicians, one who trusted entirely to his jovial manner, one who treated his patients with an assembly-line technique, one who didn't take a history, one who showed no personal interest, one who charged excessively, one who kept patients sitting undressed in a cubicle for an hour or two, one who was pompous and abrupt and unwilling to explain his diagnosis, or to reassure, and one who would never give her more than ten minutes of his time.

CANNOT PLEASE ALL

As Mrs. Lake said, no matter how able a physician may be, he cannot hope to please every type of patient. One, when ill, may not want to be fussed over or given much medicine, while another wants two kinds of

"shots" injected every other day for a year. One hates a hospital and operations; the other loves to go to a hospital and loves operations. One likes to be told there is nothing seriously wrong, the other dislikes the doctor who tries to cheer him up. Evidently different patients must find different doctors.

As Mrs. Lake said one way of finding a good doctor is to ask the office of the local medical society. The secretary may give a list of three competent men. Once when Mrs. Lake moved to a new city and was given three such names, she went to the public library and consulted the huge medical directory of the Medical Association.

This gave her much information about the training of the men. She found some more information in the Directory of Medical Specialists. There she found that each man listed was entitled by training and a stiff examination to call himself a specialist. She found what his training had been, what his hospital connections had been, perhaps what his university, title was, and what scientific honors had come to him.

Every so often an old patient of mine, becoming suspicious of a doctor who is trying to rush her into an operation, will write to ask me if I can tell her if he is reputable. Often she says the man claims to have been once on the staff of the Mayo Clinic. My secretary turns to the big directory and finds, perhaps, that the man isn't even a licensed physician; or she finds he isn't enough interested in medicine to be a member of his local medical society, or she finds he is no specialist; he has had no training in surgery, and hence should not be operating.

Another good suggestion of Mrs. Lake is for the stranger in a city to ask the manager of one of the biggest hospitals to say who is their chief of staff in medicine or surgery or other specialty. Such a man is likely to be competent and honorable.

As Mrs. Lake says, if, on your first visit, you don't like the doctor and don't trust him, you had better walk out and try again. If necessary, try several times.

Don't be afraid that the ablest specialist in your district will charge more than you can pay. Often he will charge less than a quack will, and often he can save you thousands of dollars by telling you not to accept extensive treatments and perhaps two or three useless operations.

Nanaimo Starts Second Century

Saturday Ceremony Marks Landing Of Pioneers From Princess Royal

By DON INGHAM, Times Island Editor

NANAIMO—The city that only 100 years ago was a handful of log cabins took time out from its modern hustle and bustle Saturday to pay honor to a little band of pioneers that set the stage for its present prosperity.

They were the Princess Royal passengers—22 coal miners and their courageous wives and youngsters who dared to pull up their stakes at Brierley Hill, near Birmingham, and risk a six-month voyage in the Steerage of a tiny vessel to find a new and better life.

The honor consisted of the arranging of three events that captured the hearts of Nanaimo residents like nothing since the delirious greetings accorded the Nanaimo soccer team that returned home with the Connaught Cup in 1926—this cup being to soccer what the Grey Cup is to Canadian football.

3,100 ONLOOKERS

First event was a pageant depicting the arrival of the pioneers, staged by the Yellow Point Drama Group on the actual site of the landing a century previously. By 11 a.m., time of the original landing, close to 200 descendants of the original band were assembled on a large wharf overlooking the site, and every inch of available space elsewhere was lined with spectators.

The pageant was opened by Chief Wilkes James, 81, of the Nanaimo-Indian band, well-known totem pole carver, who delivered the identical greeting in his own tongue that his father had made to the Hudson's Bay Company ships bearing the settlers.

Finally there came into view beside the multi-million dollar CPR wharf a little flotilla of three whaleboats. In them were the 77 men, women and children of the 83 who had reached Esquimalt on the Princess Royal, then transhipped to the Discovery and Beaver for the last 80 miles.

RESIDENTS SURPRISED

"Those on shore, Hudson's Bay Company miners who had arrived in 1849 aboard the ships Harpener and Torry, had no idea who the newcomers were," said producer-director George Moleley in his commentary "No News Had Reached Them."

From the little boats came the same words spoken at the same time—except for 100 years—by the original party:

"We are passengers from Brierley Hill—off Hudson's Bay vessel Princess Royal—out of London, England."

On hand at Pioneer Rock, the landing site, were actors depicting senior company officials and their wives.

"There they are—there are your ancestors," said the commentator as the little boats touched shore. "And there are the Bakers, Bevilockways, Biggs, Bulls, Dunns, Ganners..."

TORCH PASSED

The party ascended to a newly-constructed dias on the rock, where the pageant was closed with the passing of a lighted torch from the old to the new.

The "old" were Hiram Gough, grandson of passengers Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gough, and Joseph Muir, custodian of the adjacent Easton, whose mother was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Bevilockway two days after they landed.

The "new" were Joan Lane, 15, and Art Harrison, 14, who were symbolic of present-day Nanaimo.

And throughout the whole ceremony a band of 10 Indians, some in dugout canoes, watched "the strange doings of the foolish white man" as their ancestors had.

Church Opens $16,000 Hall At Duncan

DUNCAN—Rev. William Buckingham, Sydney, chairman of Victoria Presbytery, officiated Sunday morning at the dedication ceremony for the large new addition to Duncan United Church at Jubilee and First Streets.

Junior and senior choirs entered in procession and the building was full to overflowing for the ceremony.

Rev. F. H. Goughly, minister, acknowledged a gift of $1,000 from H. R. MacMillan, B.C. lumberman. Rev. W. F. Burns, minister at the church for many years, also participated. Mayor J. C. Wragg and Reeve C. A. P. Murison were among special guests.

The enlarged church has had its main seating capacity increased by one-third, and basement Sunday school rooms and a smaller hall added. The congregation of 245 active members has donated $8,000 since March, with the work costing about twice that figure.

FRIENDSHIPS RENEWED

Probably the high point of the celebration was the buffet luncheon at the Eagles' Hall, where signs on the wall showed where the descendants of the various families should gather.

Cousins met long-lost cousins and second cousins. Many learned for the first time that good friends were "descendants," sometimes of the same family.

The "Royal" descendants, though, did not have all the glory. Also there were the McGregors of Nanaimo, whose ancestors had been on shore to welcome the newcomers, and H. A. Spalding of South Pender Island, a descendant of Joseph McKay, Hudson's Bay senior agent, who had extended the official welcome 100 years previously.

OLD "GRANDCHILDREN"

During the buffet the actors who had taken the part of specific individuals introduced themselves to their relatives for a day, and many an elderly man and woman greeted a bright-eyed youngster as "grandfather."

All descendants were introduced at a huge banquet in the Plaza Hotel Saturday night, staged by the Nanaimo Pioneer Society, and the celebration closed with a cabaret dance sponsored by Malaspina Chapter, IOOE.

MINES THRIVED

Even the most unprejudiced of observers would say that the pioneers did a good job. The coal mines thrived and the original party was followed by others who left the pits of Northumberland for the freer Canadian life. Many are left in Nanaimo, although coal has given way to wood products and commerce, and the broad burr of the "Geordie" is still not unusual here.

The pioneers left a stout heritage to their descendants in the courage to venture. Looking over the 200 of this generation, one could see a large number of independent businessmen, both large and small.

There were also craftsmen and executives, wives and mothers. They can well boast being the "backbone of the community."

Ex-RAF Officer Proposes National Military Training

CHEMAINUS—The need for national military training for youths between the ages of 18 and 20 was stressed by Sir Philip Livingston, KCB, FRCS, in a talk to the United Nations group.

Not only would this provide a much needed second line of defense for the army if this country should suddenly be thrown into war, he said, but it would be a big step in curbing increased juvenile delinquency.

Canada was in great danger if it did not, as a nation, "throw back its shoulders" and maintain full military strength, he said. This could best be done through a national military service. The trouble was, he suggested, that the east coast and Ottawa are 3,000 miles away, and apparently do not realize the close proximity of the Russian shores.

It was not a case of acting tomorrow, but today "if we do not want to be doing the washing for the people across the Bering Strait."

The ex-RAF officer, a personal doctor to the late King George VI, was convinced that a national military service program for youths was the "only answer."

SINGING STAR 'PIONEER TYPE'

NANAIMO—Stanley Martin Victoria baritone who opened the "Singing Stars of Tomorrow" radio program this fall, and sang at centenary celebrations here Saturday, is a true descendant of the Princess Royal pioneers. He is a great-grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sage, passengers aboard the Princess Royal, whose descendants formed the second largest group at the celebration.

Ratepayers Ask Expansion Of Sub-Office

CHEMAINUS — Chemainus Ratepayers' Association will ask North Cowichan council to consider the immediate expansion of the municipal sub-office here.

Ratepayers felt the present office was far too small to serve the "growing needs of this community."

Former Reeve A. E. Beasley explained that the building had been so designed that it could be added to and expanded fairly economically. Erection of a complete new unit would make space available for a bigger municipal office and also provide space to house the new district ambulance. Money for the project is in the bank, earmarked for this particular project, he said.

The association will support E. Craig in his campaign for election as councillor, and Mr. Beasley suggested that the association find a running mate for him.

"If you get two elected, you can get something done," he said. "If you only elect one, you've got three or four votes against you."

If the ratepayers fail to find a second nominee, he said he would endeavor to find one.

EXPORTS TO RUSSIA LEAP IN YEAR

Burnaby Schools Trying TV

VANCOUVER—Television is being used as an instructional aid in an experiment in Burnaby schools.

Its possibilities have yet to be assessed by educators on the basis of their experience so far. In three schools it has been in use from one to three weeks.

School Inspector C. J. Frederickson, who approved the experiment, said: "My opinion is yet to be formed. I saw one good program on the teaching of art. We shall have to learn to use this medium, since TV is an instrument of education, whether inside or outside the home."

Station CBUT's school broadcast program is used on Mondays and Tuesdays at Edmonds, Westridge and Douglas Road schools.

Principal J. S. Burton of Douglas Road School said that TV will be used at weekly intervals during the present school broadcast, which will last another month.

Ernest Winch to See Warden About Douk Food in Oakalla

VANCOUVER—MLA Ernest Winch says he will seek an interview today with Warden Hugh Christie over complaints that Doukhobor women serving time at Oakalla prison farm are not getting the right type of food.

The complaint was registered with Winch by a two-man delegation of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors who said that the women, members of the Freedom sect, were being fed practically all tinned foods and few fresh vegetables.

John Perepelkin and Anton Kolesnikoff complained that, in addition to unsuitable food, the women are expected to comply with prison working rules, although they feel that to do so would be to accept the justice of punishment they have not earned.

"They regard the work as punishment for something they didn't do," said Winch.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Up to 10 inches of snow fell over Manitoba during the week-end as the province settled down for the winter.

Winnipeg reported nearly eight inches of snow since Friday, Portage la Prairie 10 and Gimli 8.

More snow with freezing drizzle was forecast for today. The temperature at Winnipeg was not expected to rise above 20 degrees.

Ice-glazed streets and highways made driving hazardous.

20,000 Free Shopping Bags to Subsidize BCE Downtown Bus Service in Vancouver

B.C. Electric is going to try to boost its "downtown-for-a-dime" bus service by throwing in a free shopping bag with each ride starting Dec. 3.

A BCE official said today that operators on the 10-cent downtown service, which is operating in the red, will give away 20,000 bags to customers to use for their Christmas shopping.

The Christmas rush will start about Dec. 10 and patronage on the service should pick up then, the spokesman said. He explained that last year downtown merchants chartered buses for customers and "it didn't pay its way even at five cents a ride."

The service, which was introduced Sept. 23, covers the downtown shopping area.

First Nail in Alouettes' Coffin

It was a great day for the underdog Edmonton Eskimos Saturday as they scored an upset 26-25 victory over Montreal Alouettes to capture the Grey Cup. Here Eskies' Earl Lindley snares a forward pass with teammate Normie Kwong cutting in to make sure ball does not go astray. However, Lindley held onto the ball to score Eskies' first touchdown.

BURIED UNDER A PILE OF PLAYERS but nevertheless the most important man in the play is quarterback Bernie Faloney of Edmonton Eskimos as he goes over from the one-yard line to score Eskies' second touchdown in the Grey Cup game Saturday. Identifiable players are Montreal's Virgil Wagner (78), Chuck Hunsinger (84), John Blaicher (81) and Edmonton's Don Barry (55).

Bruins Top Wings

(By The Canadian Press)
The little three had a big day in the National Hockey League's five-game weekend and the result shuffled the defending champion Detroit Red Wings back to third place.
Boston Bruins and New York Rangers turned giant killers Sunday night while Chicago Black Hawks pulled through for their fourth tie of the season.
Leo Labine scored three goals in less than five minutes as 9,055 fans at Boston watched the Bruins trim Detroit 6-2 for their first win in four games this season over the Wings.
The Wings loss, coupled with Chicago's 1-1 tie with Toronto Maple Leafs at Chicago, sent the Leafs into second place, a point ahead of Detroit.

BOWER SHARP
Rangers moved within five points of the Red Wings, handing the front-running Montreal Canadiens a 4-1 loss behind the sparkling goal-tending of Johnny Bower.

Maple Leafs downed Rangers 3-1 Saturday before 12,364 at Toronto while Canadiens were whipping the Wings 4-1 at Montreal.
Labine, 23-year-old, winger, tied a league record Sunday night, picking up five points in the Bruins' five-goal second-period outburst. Chicago's Les Cunningham and Max Bentley had single-period totals of five points in 1940 and 1943, respectively.

Bower, subbing for the injured Lorne Worsley, thrilled 13,364 Madison Square Garden spectators, stopping 29 shots by the explosive Canadiens.
Don Raleigh, Dean Prentice, Larry Popen and Andy Bathgate scored for Rangers. Defenseman Tom Johnson counted for Montreal.

Toronto Takes College Title

BY ART BRYDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, Ont. (CP)—University of Toronto Blues plodded to a one-point win over University of Western Ontario Mustangs—Saturday to claim the eastern intercollegiate football championship and snap an 18-year jinx.
The Blues slugged their way through mud, rain and snow to a 9-8 victory, their first in Little Stadium since 1936.

Steve Oneschuk, veteran varsity halfback playing his last game of intercollegiate football, whipped over for his team's only touchdown, came back to convert it and, earlier, kicked a field goal to account for all nine points.

Cataracts Lead QHL

(By British United Press)
The Shawinigan Falls Cataracts emerged from an in-and-out race in the Quebec Hockey League today in first place, with a one-point edge over the Quebec Aces, who have traded the spot with them for much of the six-team league's season.
The third-place Montreal Royals, meanwhile, looked like losing their position there after a Sunday game in which they were handed their third straight beating.

A full schedule Sunday saw the Cats dump Quebec, 3-0, at Quebec; the Chicoutimi Saguenens fire three third-period goals at home to beat Montreal, 3-2, and the Valleyfield Braves, last in the loop, tighten their margin behind the Ottawa Senators by toppling them, 3-1, at Valleyfield.

FILCHOCK MISSES GAME

TORONTO (BUP)—Frankie Filchock couldn't get a Grey Cup seat.
The veteran quarterback and coach of the Saskatchewan Roughriders had expected to sit in the press box, but it was packed full.
He missed seeing the 24th Montreal Eskimos win the West's first Grey Cup victory since 1945 when an usher refused to let him stand at the top of the stadium or anywhere else.

THE GOAT OF THE GREY CUP, Chuck Hunsinger, reaches for a pass from Montreal quarterback Sam Etchevery while being carefully watched by an unidentified Edmonton player. Hunsinger's attempted lateral late in the game while in Edmonton territory resulted in the Eskies' winning touchdown.

STUDY FILMS

'We Wuz Robbed' Easterners Scream

TORONTO (BUP)—The "we wuz robbed" cry echoed in the east today as films of Saturday's Grey Cup game showed up two plays which should be fight fodder during the long winter months ahead.

The big one was the wild throw by Chuck Hunsinger of the Alouettes which gave Jackie Parker a 90-yard touchdown run and the west its first Grey Cup since 1948.

There was also the fumble which veteran Herb Trawick picked up in the third quarter and toted for a TD. An official whistle gave the ball back to the Eskies.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation—re-televised the downfall of the greatest team the east had ever seen on Sunday afternoon and the fans got a chance for a second and closer look at those two plays.

The films appeared to show: 1. Hunsinger's hasty heave definitely went forward. He was behind the 20-yard stripe when he let go. The ball bounced a yard in front of the line. One Big Four official not working the game said afterwards that if the ball was thrown forward, it should have been ruled either an incomplete forward pass, or intentional grounding. Either decision would have nullified Parker's pick-up and returned the ball to Montreal.

Big Homecoming Planned for Esks

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos' Grey Cup triumph spurred a tumultuous hometown whoop-up during the week-end as rabid fans prepared to welcome home the underdog club and the coveted trophy Edmontonians sought for 33 years.

Traffic streamed over icy Edmonton streets throughout the night as motorists returned from late house parties that erupted after the announcement that an RCAF jet could not make it through western snowstorms with a television film of the game. The films arrived Sunday and were shown twice.

Previously, downtown streets echoed with auto horns as motorists with car radios blatantly proclaimed Saturday afternoon shoppers that gimpy legged Jackie Parker scored on a 90-yard touchdown gallop that gave the Eskies a 26-25 victory and the greatest upset in cup history.

Parker, noted by Edmonton fans to be the most popular player award this year, was assured of the biggest welcome

Parker's Tremendous Run Gives Story-Book Finish

By W. R. WHEATLEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer
TORONTO (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos, the most underrated team by eastern reckoning to enter the Grey Cup final, wound up a dazzling show Saturday with Jackie Parker's 85-yard winning touchdown gallop and a 26-25 squeeze-out of Montreal Alouettes.

Parker supplied the story-book finish to what appeared a lost Edmonton cause only three and a half minutes before the end of the game.

The grab-and-run spintangler came on a blind, weird attempted lateral of sorts to nowhere by Alouettes' Chuck Hunsinger. In a split second Parker, the gangling, shuffle-footed boy from Ole Mississippi, had gathered in the ball and was on his way, gimpy legs and all.

The shifting fortunes of the game provided the greatest thriller ever staged in the east-west football spectacle. A screaming, delirious crowd of

Bob Dean—the Forgotten Man

In the wild hubbub, excitement and general frenzy when it was all over, many forgot the convert of sure-footed Bob Dean that really spelled Eskies' victory. Dean hasn't missed a convert all season, and that important point Saturday would have been a horrendous time to goof.

There was one converging point on pregame boasts from both west and east. Faloney more than lived up to billing as the greatest faker and sleight-of-hand artist since Houdini. Etchevery proved himself a brilliant forward-passing specialist and field general who can run, himself out of a hole unaided.

'We Had the Game Won'—Walker

There was the Sunday aftermath, a calmer assay by the coaches.

"He had a brainstorm," said Alouette coach Douglas Peasehead Walker in his slow, Alabama accent. "He just threw the ball away. I haven't even talked to him since. I guess nobody can explain it—impulse or something."

"We had the game won. All we needed to do was to hang on to the ball. We could even have gone for a single point."

The single point Walker sadly reflected on would have given Alouettes a six-point lead, and a converted touchdown by the Eskies could have brought only a tie.

Frank Pop Ivy, who coached the first Edmonton team to win the Grey Cup in four tries, said even if Hunsinger had held on to the ball "there would still have been time, and as long as we had time we still had a chance."

"If there was any one man I wanted to see win the game like that, it was Parker," said Ivy. "He had told me during the game; 'you had better watch me, coach; I can't run with the ball.'"

Parker suffered a cracked ankle bone in the second game of the western final against Winnipeg Blue Bombers. He sat out the Grey Cup semifinal against Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen and wrenched his knee in Saturday's game.

Keys Played With Broken Leg

The Eskies' win was the fifth for the west since 1921 when the Grey Cup game became an east-west affair. The Canadian title has gone to Winnipeg three times and to Calgary once.

Faloney had helping hands in his mystifying ball-handling. He had Rolfe Miles tossing passes on end sweeps, an optional play that had the Alouettes baffled. He had Normie Kwong, Parker and Lindley cracking through the line on deceptive plays.

On the line Dean, Frank Morris, Roger Nelson and centre Eagle Keys played a strong game. Keys was injured but came back to handle snaps on kicks. It was disclosed Sunday night he had suffered a fractured leg.

Between the goal lines the Eskies had the edge statistically. They rolled up 37 first downs to Edmonton's 25. In rushing they ran up a total of 328 yards to the Eskies' 266 and were away out in front in yardage gained on passing—398 to 169. Montreal's 33 pass attempts were completed 23 times; 10 of Esks' 23 attempts were good.

Western Puck Race Tightens

7, Victoria 0; New Westminster 5, Vancouver 4
Edmonton 6, Calgary 3

First and third spots in the Western Hockey League hang in precarious balance as the six-team loop swings into a crowded schedule this week.

New Westminster trails first-place Edmonton by one point, and Victoria is a game away from third-place Calgary.

The 10 games on tap in the next six days will see plenty of action by the top four in the league, and positions could be changed when Saturday's three games are over.

The last-place Saskatoon Quakers scored their first shut-out of the season when they trounced Victoria Cougars 7-0 in the coast city. Eddie Kobussen led the scoring with two goals and an assist.

Eddie Kullman, Ray Manson, Doug Bentley, Len Haley and Dick Lamoureux scored one apiece.

Edmonton Flyers kept their lead Saturday as they stamped the hesitant Calgary Stampeders 6-3 on Calgary ice. The win kept them in first place as the New Westminster Royals vaulted into contention by scraping past Vancouver Canucks 5-4 at the Royal City.

Bronco Horvath fired past Calgary's Bill Brennan four times. Enio Scisizzi and Bill Bucyk scored the other Flyer goals.

No games are scheduled tonight. Victoria is at Vancouver and Calgary at Saskatoon on Tuesday.

Browns Edge Giants; Near Pro Grid Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—The powerful Cleveland Browns moved a step closer to their fifth straight Eastern Conference crown by fighting off the Philadelphia Eagles, challenging New York Giants, 16-7, in the top National League game Sunday.

The defeat knocked the Giants into a second-place tie with Philadelphia-Eagles. Cleveland leads both clubs by 1½ games and can clinch the title by winning two of the three games it has left to play.

In other games, Philadelphia nipped Washington, 41-33; Chicago Bears downed Los Angeles, 24-13; Baltimore surprised San Francisco, 17-13, and Pittsburgh edged Chicago Cardinals, 20-17.

Detroit Lions, western division pace-setters, rested on their laurels. Their victory Thursday over Green Bay, 28-24, coupled with Sunday's results, left only Chicago Bears with a chance to deadlock Detroit for the crown. One more triumph for the Lions and it's all over.

Otto Graham, Lou Groza and Horace Gillom helped Cleveland to its sixth straight victory. Graham's 16 passes netted 210 yards and the former Northwestern All-American scored his team's only touchdown on a quarterback sneak in the first quarter.

Groza booted three field goals and Gillom got off an 80-yard punt to kick the Browns out of danger in the third quarter.

Grey Cup Highlights

(COMPILED FROM CP AND BUP DISPATCHES)
Mrs. Florence Walker, wife of coach Doug Peahead Walker of Montreal Alouettes, said Saturday night that the Alouettes' heart-breaking defeat in the Grey Cup final was "the worst thing that ever happened to him."

"He's dying of a broken heart," she said at a reception tendered by the City of Toronto.

Coach Walker himself said that Edmonton Eskimos' attack "didn't beat us. If anything, it was our mistakes."

Chuck Hunsinger, as close to tears as a big guy can come, admitted he "threw the game away," but insisted the play should have been called back.

It was pouring cats and dogs in Montreal today—not to mention the copious tears of Alouettes' fans—but the city went right ahead with plans to honor the boys who lost with a gala parade and civic reception.

Mayor Jean Drapeau, who saw the Larks lose the Grey Cup to the Edmonton Eskimos in Toronto Saturday, led the nation's biggest city in sticking by the Al.

"Sure, we'll give them a reception anyway," he said. "They deserve it."

Coach Frank Pop Ivy of the victorious Edmonton Eskimos gave a little talk at a reception Saturday night, in which he said the Eskies are taking the cup west and "intend to keep it there."

Ivy, bubbling with happiness, said the Al's were the strongest club Edmonton has met this season and that the breaks were the big thing.

Veteran centre Eagle Keys of Edmonton Eskimos played the last three quarters of Saturday's Grey Cup final with a broken leg, it was disclosed Sunday night.

Keys, a former Montreal Alouette, whose home town is Tompkinsville, Ky., suffered a fracture to the main bone in his left leg just below the knee a minute or two before the end of the first quarter.

After that, he hobbled back onto the field to snap the ball for all of Edmonton's third down punts except in the dying minutes of the game and to snap for Edmonton's field goal by tackle Bob Dean and for Edmonton's third convert.

"My leg hurt terribly but I tried not to think of it because they needed me in there and they couldn't have kept me out anyway," Keys said Sunday night.

The west took over Toronto Saturday night.

The 932 Edmonton fans who traveled east to see their Eskimos win the Grey Cup whooped it up in downtown hotels, bars and streets.

Flashing green and gold ribbons and brandishing tennant hats, the Edmontonians let loose their pent-up emotions. They almost besieged the Eskimo team as the players fought their way through the hotel lobby after the game.

For the Alouette supporters, it was a different story. Irving Bookbinder of Montreal set the tone in a downtown hotel lobby, rendering "Taps" and then "Home on the Range" on his trumpet. Everybody was soon singing.

Mrs. Bruce Coulter, wife of Montreal Alouettes' under study quarterback and pass defense man, may have figured her husband needed a little cheering up after Saturday's defeat in the Grey Cup game at Toronto.

In any event, she presented Bruce with an eight-pound two-ounce girl a few hours after he arrived here Sunday with the rest of his teammates.

Edmonton Eskimos made a last-minute switch from green to white jerseys for Saturday's Grey Cup football game to ensure the success of the game's television coverage.

By Sunday, Toronto's traditional Sunday, calm and quiet prevailed. The hotel lobbies were back to normal. While the festive westerners rolled across northern Ontario, the defeated Alouette supporters were left with the let-down feeling that comes only with defeat and hangovers.

Clippers Win Again; Two Games Tonight

Nanaimo 6, C & C Taxi 3
C & C Taxi and Nanaimo Clippers will continue puck rivalry where they left off Saturday night when they clash tonight in the feature contest of a two-game Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League card at Memorial Arena.

Clippers celebrated the 100th anniversary of the city of Nanaimo Saturday night and did themselves proud by whipping the short-handed Taximen, 6-3, to "bust their front-running margin."

The two teams met tonight at Memorial Arena at 7:30, following the opening game between Navy and Drake Hotel at 7:30.

Missing several players and with coach Frank Warszewski in strip and forward Don Ashbee on defense, Taximen were no match for Clippers.

Joe Zuback paced the up-liners with two goals and two assists, while coach Red Carr chipped in with a two-goal effort. Ashbee scored once for Taximen, assisted on another tally and was balked on several other attempts by a brilliant Spanky Hodgson in goal for the Clippers.

Fans purchasing tickets tonight and to any games before Dec. 22 will be eligible for awards to be given away the night of Dec. 22.

Victoria College pavement pounders Saturday captured the Vancouver Island cross-country running championship and accompanying Nelles Trophy.

Led by Brian Perry-Whittingham and teammate Jim Moore, who finished one-two, college athletes ran to victory over the Royal Roads Services College's 4.2-mile course by posting 22 points under the reverse system of scoring.

Two-time titlist and defending champion Victoria High School A team was runner-up with 32 points, while HMCS Venture A took third with 47 points.

Other teams competing were Royal Roads A, 58; University of British Columbia, 73; Victoria High B, 90; Royal Roads B, 112; University School, 159; HMCS Venture B, 168; and Belmont Junior-Senior High School, 194.

Perry-Whittingham won the race in the time of 21 minutes 54 seconds and held a five-yard lead over Moore at the finish. Harry Stephens placed eighth.

Jones Sparks Orphans; But Few Fans See Win

Victoria 51, Westminster 41

To the sprinkling of ardent basketball fans at Central Junior High School Saturday night, Gordy Jones was the logical contender for nomination as "man of the hour."

With Big John Clark on the sidelines nursing an injured ankle, and guard Don Hendry missing from the lineup, Jones picked up the slack caused by their absence as he led Howie Tooby's senior A "Orphans" to a deserving 51-41 victory over New Westminster Adanacs in an exhibition contest before approximately 75 fans.

Jones stole the spotlight with his speedy ball handling and accurate shooting as he potted 24 points to lead scorers on both teams.

Following the game Tooby's team decided to carry on playing in spite of an apparent lack of interest by local fans and financial losses.

The club has ordered uniform tops to replace the borrowed ones worn in recent games. Players are prepared to pay for their own uniforms if no sponsor is located.

Next game for the locals is scheduled for Chemsinus Sunday afternoon at 3 with Alberni Athletics providing the opposition.

In a preliminary game Saturday night, Cee-Fletchers nipped Vampires, 48-45, in an exhibition senior B men's contest.

Lane, several times triple title winner, again stole the spotlight as he captured a singles title and shared in two doubles crowns, while Mrs. MacDonald shared in two doubles championships.

Lane annexed the men's singles crown by defeating Jim Wells, 15-4, 15-7, in the final and then paired with Norm Lambrick to take the men's doubles with a 15-10, 15-10 decision over Stu Reid and Hugh Francis.

Lane also joined forces with Mrs. MacDonald to win the mixed doubles by defeating Carol Chalmers and Reid, 15-9, 15-4.

Mrs. MacDonald and Muriel Knott retained possession of the women's doubles championship with a 15-9, 15-4 verdict over Maureen Bray and Bev Anderson.

Wanderers Nip Bays

Oak Bay Wanderers came from behind Saturday to score their second Miller Cup English rugby victory by defeating JBAA, 11-8, at Macdonald Park.

Trailing, 8-3, Wanderers rallied strongly in the second half with a penalty goal and a converted try to take the decision.

Gary Webster scored an unconverted try for the winners, while Stu Smith kicked a penalty goal and converted a second-half try by Rafael Duke.

Frank Gower fell on a loose ball for a try, converted by Gary Pynn, and Pynn booted a penalty kick for JBAA.

Shawinigan Lake vaulted into the second division lead by blanking Victoria College, 5-0, on a try by Joe Stewart which was converted by Derek Brookes.

Only one midget game was played, University School whipping Oak Bay Wanderers, 28-3. Eaves scored four tries for the winners, Schaeffer, Chambers and Wenman each going over for one try. Grosskleg booted a penalty goal and two converts.

Jack Heath scored an unconverted try for Wanderers.

AUSSIE CRICKETERS DECLARE FOR 601 RUNS

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters)—Australia declared their first innings at 601 for eight wickets at lunch on the third day of the first test cricket match against England here today.

Australia, 503 for six overnight, piled on the runs this morning. They added 98 for the loss of two more wickets in the 90 minutes before lunch.

Richie Benaud and Ray Lindwall, the overnight batsmen, scored quickly this morning before Benaud gave an easy catch off Frank Tyson. Their seventh wicket stand realized 81 runs in 80 minutes.

Lindwall saw Gil Langley bowled by Trevor Bailey for 16 at 572, but remained undefeated with 64.

Scroggs-Morrison Keep Golf Buttons

Frank Scroggs and Bob Morrison of Uplands Golf Club still hold the men's senior city golf buttons, but it took one month to decide the issue.

The Uplands pair maintained their hold on the lapel decorations Sunday at Victoria Golf Club by posting a 1 up decision over Bob Fleming and John Merriman of Gorge Vale.

The match was postponed due to rain the previous Sunday and prior to that the divoters took one Sunday off to compete in the monthly medal round after battling to no decision in the first meeting.

The best ball for the winners Sunday was 67, against the losers' 68.

Fleming and Merriman won the first hole with a birdie four, halved the third and then saw their early lead dissolve as Scroggs and Morrison took the third with a par four.

Fleming and Morrison again took the lead by winning the fourth with a birdie three and the fifth with a par four to go 2 up. Morrison and Scroggs took the sixth with a birdie.

Combines Finally Win, Heaneys Extend Lead

The team which couldn't win for losing and had been threatened with suspension from the Victoria and District Football League, finally upset the dope sheet Sunday.

Second division Combines, recently given a severe reprimand by league officials for not having sufficient players turn out for games and threatened with expulsion from the circuit, racked up their first victory in 11 starts this season by outplaying Woods Motors, 3-1, at Reynolds Road Park.

In other games played Sunday, Heaneys topped their first division lead to six points by trimming Victoria West, 5-1, while Victoria City of the Coast Soccer League and JBAA of the district loop battled to a 1-1 draw in an exhibition contest.

Saturday, Duncan Native Sons moved into a two-point lead in the second division by blanking Punjab United, 2-0, and Butler Bros. took sole possession of second place by walloping Dutch Wanderers, 12-1.

Missing stars Wally Milligan, Archie Taylor, John Moss and Ernie Eastlake and two other players who failed to show, Woods failed to hold the win-starved Combines.

Dave Ready scored to give Combines a 1-0 half-time lead and George Henn and Jack Milburn blasted second-half goals for the winners. Ron Pearce averted a shut-out for Woods with a goal less than a minute from time.

Barclays Bank

To Open Branch Here Next Year

Barclays Bank (Canada) will open a Victoria branch on Fort Street early in the new year. The bank, one of Britain's largest, has branches in most large Canadian cities.

The Victoria branch will be located in the Jones Building, 717 Fort Street, in premises now occupied by William Cathcart shoe store.

Plans for remodeling the store are being prepared by architects Wade, Stockhill and Armour.

Entry of Barclays Bank into Victoria will bring the number of chartered banks operating here to eight. Banks already established are Banks of Montreal, Toronto and Nova Scotia, Canadian Bank of Commerce, Dominion Bank, Imperial Bank of Canada and Royal Bank of Canada.

Irregularity Nicks

Upsurging Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market, after starting out strong and hitting a 20-year high, turned irregular toward today's close.

Industrials remained well ahead after their index hit a 20-year high of 375.04 in morning trade. But golds drifted off and western oils and base metals were mixed. Low-priced mines were active.

Utilities, agricultures, steels, liquors and financial institutions were strong. Imperial Bank was ahead $1.50 at 2 p.m. Canadian Bank of Commerce was off $5 at $40 after rights to buy capital stock went on sale. Rights sold at $3.00.

El Sol and Bonville added 50 per cent to their prices among low-priced mines. God's Lake climbed 19 cents and Lorado touched $3.40. Algoma touched a 1954 high of $12.75 and Faraday touched $2.62 on a 67-cent gain.

Ever Higher

7-Point Gains Aid

Spotty Market

NEW YORK (CP)—Scattered strong points provided a firm foundation today for an advancing stock market.

Most gains were fractional, but they pushed out vigorously at times in a range that went to 7 points.

Greatest gains were found in the railroads, aircrafts, chemicals and building materials.

Steels were heavily traded but mixed most of the time. Also in that class were oils and rubbers. Coppers displayed a higher trend, and going down were airlines, motion pictures, distillers and utilities.

Motors were mixed with Chrysler and General Motors pointed lower but with Studebaker-Packard strong on predictions of heavy motor car sales and mounting defense orders.

Canadian stocks ahead included Canadian Pacific, 1/2, International Nickel up 1/2, Distillers Seagram was off 1/2, Dome Mines and McIntyre were unchanged.

Mixed Canadian issues on the American stock exchange included Royalite Oil, off 1/2.

Trio Escapes After Crash In Stolen Car

Wreck Found At Shoal Bay

A stolen car was battered Sunday when young thieves hit a parked car, veered through a guard rail then plunged over a 20-foot embankment and a stone wall at Shoal Bay Beach.

(See picture at left.) Awakened by the crash, a nearby resident told police three youths had walked away from the crash at 3 a.m. They apparently were not hurt seriously, although police found blood stains near the car.

Oak Bay police said Charles B. Mills, 1527 Oakland, reported his car stolen Saturday night. Residents near the corner of Transit and Beach Drive found the car on the beach at daylight Sunday.

The car had struck a parked car on Beach Drive then traveled out of control through a guard rail and over the bank. It landed upside down.

Mrs. D. F. Wingate, 456 Beach Drive, said she was awakened by a crash at 3 a.m. Looking out she saw three "teen-agers" in dark clothing.

They climbed from the beach and walked up Transit, she said. A wrecker recovered the car later in the day.

HOME WRECKER GETS 60-DAY PRISON TERM

Sailor Julien Pilote, who admitted doing several hundred dollars damage to a city home November 25, was sentenced to two months at Oakalla prison farm in city police court today.

Pilote had been charged with wilful damage to real property and a second charge of wilful damage to personal property.

He destroyed four doors, seven windows, plastered walls, a cupboard, a window frame, plumbing, a television set, a refrigerator, a set of dishes, a child's table and chair set and a chrome dining set.

He did not tell the court what had caused the outburst, although he was fined $10 earlier for drunkenness.

New Building Rules For City Apartments May Halt Expansion

Oosterink Hits Out At Planners' By-Law

A zoning by-law amendment which city building inspector J. W. Oosterink said will seriously discourage construction of new apartments was scheduled to come before City Council for final passage at a meeting this afternoon.

The amendment, proposed by the Town Planning Commission, calls for apartment buildings to have a 25-foot set-back from the property line, instead of eight feet, as it is now.

It also calls for apartments to have minimum side yards of five feet on one side and 10 on the other, instead of five and five, the present requirement.

Mr. Oosterink said the amendment goes "too far." There are many shallow lots on Fort Street and other streets zoned for apartment use where a 25-foot set-back will make it almost impossible to build an apartment, he says.

The by-law already requires apartments be designed to have a 25-foot open space at the rear. "There are a great many lots in areas zoned for apartments which are only about 100 feet in length," Mr. Oosterink said. "You take 25 feet off the back and another 25 feet off the front and what have you got left? Not enough to provide a decent type of apartment."

MAY HURT CITY

Mr. Oosterink said he considered the restricting amendment poor business from the city's point of view.

"The city should do everything it can to encourage people to build apartments. It doesn't get much revenue from vacant lots. When they are built on, though, particularly if a big building is erected, the revenue to the city is considerable."

The Town Planning Commission's argument, according to commission secretary Mrs. Elsie Shepherd is that the 25-foot set-back will "make for better appearance and eliminate the feeling of claustrophobia."

WEATHERMAN'S ATTITUDE A BIT FROSTY

Oh, come now, it wasn't really cold—just a bit nippy. Thirty-six degrees on the official thermometer at Gonzales early this morning, says Weatherman Bill Mackie.

"But air temperature in low-lying areas was close to freezing," he admits, "and ground temperatures were definitely freezing."

Temperatures were the lowest recorded this winter, although the mercury early Sunday was almost as low.

As for the immediate future, be-prepared type citizens should keep ear muffs handy, but don't need to worry about snowshoes. A low temperature area, lurking balefully around the Gulf of Alaska indicates it is moving in this direction. Result: increased cloudiness Tuesday, with showers or rain in the afternoon. No snow in sight. Low tonight is forecast at 38, up on Gonzales hill, with frost again in low lying areas.

City C of C May Operate Unique Service

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce is considering setting up a "better business bureau" within its organization, it was learned today.

Negotiations are already under way to hire an experienced individual capable of handling queries concerning business practices.

If instituted, the move will be unique to Canada. Nowhere else does the C of C undertake such work on a full-time basis.

At present, chamber secretary Cy Porter handles all questions relating to business practices, and these amount to approximately a dozen daily. All take time to investigate.

The Better Business Bureau, as such, is an incorporated firm, and operates in other Canadian cities on a membership basis. It is believed that in Victoria establishment of a BBB is not at the present time warranted because of slim industry here.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Will you please inform me where the cowboy Will James lives? It is in Montana somewhere. He was born at Judith Basin, Montana, in 1892. In his book, "The Lone Cowboy," he states he has a place a hundred miles from where he was born, and I am quite interested in him.—R.S.

A.—William Roderick James, American writer and illustrator of books on cowboy life, was born in a covered wagon near Great Falls, Mont., June 6, 1892, and died in Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 3, 1942. He was the author of "Cowboys North and South" (1924); the autobiography, "Lone Cowboy" (1930); "The American Cowboy" (1942), and other books. BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Former residents of Toronto plan to meet in Orange Hall tonight, for a social evening and a chat about old times. Well, in case they run out of old times to talk about, I have another topic for discussion.

They might try to figure out why their home town is invariably called "staid" by newspaper writers.

This becomes especially evident at Grey Cup time, when nearly every story starts out: "... this usually staid city will take down its hair..." etc.

Possibly, somewhere down the misty corridors of history, Toronto was indeed staid.

But not in the memory of living man.

Let us find a new adjective for Toronto. Your suggestions will be respectfully considered—unless you are a former resident of Hamilton, of which Toronto is a leading suburb.

Adjectives applied by residents of Hamilton to Toronto must be carefully censored before publication.

Speaking of Toronto, Hugh Maguire, the Craigflower Road druggist, has received an interesting communication from that city.

It was addressed to "Cauliflower Road, Victoria, B.C." Hugh guesses the sender has become confused by all the propaganda about Victoria, city of flowers.

Bowling McLean Motors in Vancouver has inserted an intriguing advertisement in the papers:

"We will announce the greatest news in automotive history next Tuesday. Don't fail to miss it."

I won't.

But I wonder what this "greatest news in automotive history" could be? Don't tell me they have invented a car with running boards.

Nomination for the best typographical error of the week; the help-wanted advertisement for air-line clerks which specified "business experience" as being essential.

This is the time of year when people begin counting the days before Christmas. Not shopping days. Pay days.

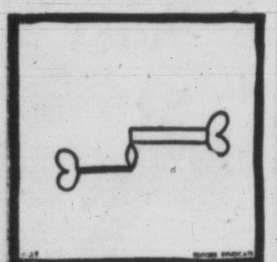

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Victoria electrician Lawrence Buckle was fined $15 and costs and ordered to take out a trades license when he appeared in Sidney police court Saturday. Magistrate F. J. Baker warned that out-of-town tradesmen must first take out a permit if they intend to work in the village.

Gordon Henry Smith, 1837 Holland Avenue, was fined $15 in city police court today for speeding.

"I must have fallen asleep," said Morley K. Davis, 4088 Glenford, in explaining how he happened to hit a parked car on the wrong side of the road, November 20. He was fined $40 today for careless driving at Bay and Empire.

DROODLES

At first glance this might seem to be an example of every-day politeness among Bumblebees. Not so. These two happen to be juvenile delinquents who're too young to smoke and who carry switchblade stingers and are planning to mug and mug a moth. Then they'll date up a couple of wild Honey Bees, get loaded on pollen and go back to the hive and make smart-aleck remarks to the Queen. Human juvenile delinquents can always blame their behavior on television and comic books but there's no excuse for bees. They can't even blame their parents as bees don't have parents in the accepted sense. All I can say is "Bees will be Bees."

An electric drill, a portable power saw and a small radio were reported stolen from a workshop owned by G. Inglis, 539 Linden, over the week-end. Another thief made off with $6.75 worth of groceries Saturday from the parked car of Miss Bona Macmurchie, 2821 Shelbourne.

Drive without a license in Colwood only if you have $50 to pay your fine. That was the warning of Magistrate A. L. Thomas at Colwood Court Saturday. Fine has been $25. But it was boosted to $35 when Norman William Scott, 19, was fined for that offense Saturday. And the warning was given.

Nothing is thought to be missing after a week-end break-in at Rainbow Sea Cadet headquarters at the foot of Roberts Street. Police said the entry appeared to be the work of juveniles.

The Toll Bridges and Highways Authority today moved to clear the way for construction of a new Marpole Bridge at Vancouver.

An order-in-council approved by the cabinet gives the toll authority permission to purchase right-of-way required for the new bridge, on an Oak Street site at Marpole.

Cost of the bridge has been estimated at about $8,000,000.

City Council's public works committee, at a meeting today, approved in principle the idea of allowing plastic materials to be used for sign purposes.

TUESDAY MEETINGS
Victoria Kiwanis Club: Empress Hotel, noon. Speaker, L. J. Wallace, "Recreation: A Human Need."
Victoria North Kiwanis: Monterey Restaurant, 6.15 p.m.
Saltire Society: Empress Hotel, 8 p.m.

GUEST ARTIST with Victoria Symphony Orchestra next week-end is a brilliant Canadian pianist, Margaret Ann Ireland, who has studied in Toronto, New York, Paris, Salzburg and Vienna. She performed her first concerto with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra at the age of 16 under the baton of Sir Ernest MacMillan. With the Victoria Symphony and conductor Hans Gruber, at Sunday and Monday performances, she will play the Concerto for Piano and Orchestra No. 3 in C minor by Beethoven, the same concerto with which she made her debut with Sir Ernest.

Jap Oranges Arrive—From Vancouver

First Japanese oranges of the 1954 Christmas season have arrived in Victoria—via Vancouver.

A second consignment of 43, 126 boxes for Vancouver Island distributors was due here today in S.S. Taigen Maru, but the ship passed up this port and went through to Vancouver.

The reason: no berth space was available at Ogden Point where three lumber carriers, a general cargo ship, and a grain ship are working today.

Taigen Maru's oranges for Victoria and other Island centres will be transhipped at Vancouver and brought back here by barge.

Shipping men say today's "traffic jam" at Ogden Point is only a preview of greater shipping activity due at the first of the year. January, they say, will show the effects of the end of Britain's month-long dock strike, which was settled October 30. The congestion of cargo on U.K. docks is only now being cleared, and January may see a record for general cargo ships discharging here.

Four Months' Term For Wife-Beater

A Port Alberni man was sentenced to four months hard labor today at Colwood RCMP court for assaulting his wife.

George Edwin Salmon appeared before Magistrate A. L. Thomas for sentence, after several remands. He was convicted of causing his wife actual bodily harm.

James Gibson, Victoria, was fined $200 and costs for impaired driving, which resulted in a crash on Helmcken Road Saturday night.

Man Requests Own Interdiction

"I'd like to be interdicted for the rest of my life," a city man said when he was sentenced today to three months in Oakalla.

Ray Moore, of 515 Dalton, pleaded guilty last week to defrauding three city merchants with worthless cheques. He had obtained two rifles and cash worth a total of about $200.

"I realize I've made a terrible mistake," he told Magistrate H. C. Hall.

"You may apply and become interdicted, but all of this cannot be blamed on liquor," the magistrate told him.

He sentenced Moore to three months on each of three offenses and made the jail terms concurrent.

Three Injured In Traffic Here On Week-End

A city motorcyclist who spilled from his bike at Sooke was most seriously injured of three traffic victims reported by district police since Saturday noon.

James Copeland, 711 Johnson, was admitted to Jubilee Hospital at 9.15 p.m. Sunday with ankle and hip injuries and head lacerations.

Sooke RCMP constable Peter Humphries, who attended the mishap, said the cause of the spill was not determined.

Miss Joan Houghton, 2957 Foul Bay Road, was treated at Jubilee following an accident at Linkleas and McNeil at 8 p.m. Saturday. She was sent home after her left foot was examined.

Another passenger injured in the same car was A. Kinloch, Royal Roads. He was taken to RCN Hospital with head lacerations.

Oak Bay police said the driver was George A. Veiner, Royal Roads. His car struck a power line pole.

Small Cuts Made In Liquor Price

B.C. Liquor Control Board today announced price cuts on 13 brands of liquor. The cuts ranged from 5 cents to 35 cents.

Included in the list are brandy, gin, rum, Australian and French wines, and liqueurs. Prices on two brands of liquor were increased slightly.

Today's price reductions are the second large-scale price cuts in the past few months.

Radio 'Hams' Name New Officer Slate

J. W. A. Legg-Willis has been elected president of the Victoria Short Wave Club.

Vice-president is G. T. Bridges.

Others elected include: D. Scholes, secretary; W. Carey, treasurer, and W. McKay, B. Young and D. Donaldson, directors.

Cigarette Thieves Grab $50 Cash In Sidney Raids

About $150 in cigarettes and cash was reported stolen in one of two week-end burglaries at Sidney.

Army, Navy and Airforce Veterans' Club lost $75 worth of cigarettes, $50 cash from juke box and pin-ball machines. An undetermined amount of silver was stolen from a cash box.

Nothing was taken when offices of Sidney Freight were ransacked.

Wicks, Unionists To Meet on Jobless Problem

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks will discuss the unemployment situation with leaders of the B.C. trade union movement in Vancouver on December 13.

Officials of the Trades Union Congress (TLC), the railway brotherhoods, and the B.C. Federation of Labor (CCL) will attend the unemployment parley.

Mr. Wicks recently met representatives of large B.C. construction firms to discuss employment prospects for this winter, and unionists demanded to be invited.

Their request then was refused, but today's announcement apparently is in answer to the union demands. No terms or reference have been set for the conference.

B.C. Awaits Ottawa Action on Fatal View Royal Bridge

New construction to replace a dangerous bridge-underpass combination in View Royal will not be undertaken before 1956, despite complaints by angry residents.

A traffic fatality occurred Saturday at the bridge end on Helmcken Road, close to a View Royal Elementary School.

Residents say the death of George W. Halliday climaxed five years of protest to the department of public works. They want safer conditions now.

But provincial authorities said today improvements will depend on possible federal government action next spring.

Under present regulations railways do not have to contribute to work done on an underpass. The underpass on Helmcken Road provides right-of-way to the E & N Railway.

The officials added that there are reports that new legislation effecting a 60-40 split on underpass costs may be passed in the House of Commons during spring sessions.

If this occurs, the provincial government likely will be authorized to proceed with improvements.

The change in regulations will be too late for the project to be included in 1955 estimates. Therefore it is likely the job would not be begun until the following year.

Most recent protest was registered by the residents barely a month ago. View Royal Community Association and PTA have announced they will also petition the provincial government for improvements.

Helmcken Road at present winds under the underpass and curves onto the wooden-planked bridge. Approaching motorists don't see the bridge until they are almost on it.

Sudden attempts to slow on the bridge, if it is wet, often results in a skid.

It was such an accident which caused one car to strike another, which in turn struck and killed the pedestrian Saturday morning.

reportedly struck by car at end of bridge. First car hit pedestrian, inflicting fatal injuries. Inquest into the death was under way this afternoon.

Creamy milk chocolate bars have recently been imported from Switzerland . . . and are they ever making a hit! The sales girl informed me that people have been asking for this particular bar for a long time, and now, at last they can buy them.

The reason it is so popular is because the milk chocolate is combined with almonds and honey . . . mmmmmh! I've tasted the chocolate bar, so I can tell you from experience that it is tops.

The bar is triangular in shape and is wrapped in foil, then packed in a cardboard box which is also triangular. You can buy it in three sizes, the smallest selling at 12 cents, medium at 25 cents and largest at 50 cents.

I know you'll like 'em!

Talking of chocolate, I'm reminded of a chocolate wafer cake I tasted the other day. Reason I want to tell you about it is that it is very rich and quite small. Ideal, you see, for a couple or a person living alone loving rich cakes, but not wanting to buy one of regular size, knowing that half of it will go to waste. Such rich food must be eaten in small quantity.

Crisp wafers that melt in your mouth are alternated with layers of smooth butter cream of chocolate flavor. All is iced with dark chocolate. Ever good! Price for the cake is 30 cents.

Candidates Will Speak

At an open meeting in the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, 902 Government Street, on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, four women candidates running for office in the civic election on Dec. 5 will speak. They are Miss Jane Hall, member of the business and professional Women's Club, and Mrs. W. H. Wilson, both running in the aldermanic campaign; Mrs. W. W. McGill and Mrs. D. P. W. Maunsell, running for re-election on the school board. The meeting is sponsored by the Civic Interests Group of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club. The public is invited to attend.

Serve this as a starter for one of your important sit-down company dinners. Spoon, drained, chilled canned fruit cocktail frozen to a mush consistency.

Bazaar-Bridge for Nursing Home

Mrs. C. C. Warren, at right, will open the bazaar and bridge planned by the Women's Auxiliary to Victoria Rotary club, in K of P Hall, Cormorant Street, on Wednesday at 2 p.m. Auxiliary president Mrs. William Clark, left, will receive guests. General convenor is Mrs. George Warren; tea arrangements are in charge of Mrs. J. C. Nimmo and Mrs. George Duck and the bridge, Mrs. Charles Brown. Proceeds will be used to furnish a room in the new wing of Victoria Nursing Home.

THEY HAVE ADVANTAGE

Easier for Many Women Reach High Literary Fame

Housewives among Canada's first, "A Lamp Is Heavy," published in 1950.

Both books are what Mrs. Russell calls "fiction based on fact" of her former career in nursing.

The statement comes from Mrs. Sheila MacKay-Russell, of Edmonton, attractive 34-year-old author of two successful books and a housewife with a young daughter.

Mrs. Russell says she risks a barrage of pots and pans in putting forward the theory that for a housewife to be an author is only a matter of mind over matter—and of finance.

MENTAL DISCIPLINE

People, she says, don't use their minds to capacity. The mind should be trained to work.

"Just think back now and then and trace your train of thought," says Mrs. Russell.

"With practice you will be able to think consciously and bring your mind back to any particular point."

Housewives can think and plan while doing the more or less automatic task of housework "and if they can find time to put their thoughts on paper, fine."

Where housewives have a big advantage over other would-be authors is in money matters, Mrs. Russell said.

The economic pressure on present-day writers, she added, is "terrific." She feels "really sorry for males trying to support a family on their literary earnings." But housewives get an income through their husbands.

Mrs. Russell's second book, "The Living Earth" (Longmans Green) was published recently. Advance sales alone of nearly 10,000 copies promise to make the book as big a hit as her first, "A Lamp Is Heavy," published in 1950.

She graduated from Calgary General Hospital and in public health nursing from the University of Alberta. In between the two training periods, she had a year's experience in a rural hospital and a year's rest at home because of a tubercular lung.

While resting, she began writing—"something I've wanted to do since I clutched my first crayon."

The first draft of "A Lamp Is Heavy" was produced in 1947 while Mrs. Russell was assistant director of both public health and health education with the Alberta government. The book, a story of a student nurse, has sold more than 11,000 copies in Canada and has been published in England, Holland and Australia.

"The Living Earth" is drawn on Mrs. Russell's experiences in district nursing.

Born at Aldrie, Alta., and raised in Calgary, Mrs. Russell married her lumber salesman husband in 1947. They live "a quiet life" in their charming south Edmonton bungalow with five-month-old daughter Catherine MacKay.

Already Mrs. Russell has started work on a sequel to "A Lamp Is Heavy."

Largely Attended Bazaar Is Opened by Mrs. Bennett

A total of $650 was realized from the affair, which was largely attended. Mrs. B. H. Irwin, president of the association, greeted the patrons from the stage, which was festively decorated with a lighted Christmas tree and tall baskets of bright-hued chrysanthemums.

Mrs. D. R. Pilkey, Mrs. Irwin

Other stalls and their conveners were: Mrs. H. W. Thomas, Mrs. A. Howell and Mrs. G. Stancombe, fancywork and linens; Mrs. B. Whittle, Mrs. R. K. Cartwright and Mrs. D. Cooper, aprons; Mesdames W. Douglas, A. Cuthbert, G. Hardy, G. D. Babcock and C. Penson, home-cooking; Mrs. M. Walker, Mrs. R. James and Mrs. Murray, superfluity; Mrs. V. Perkins and Mrs. J. Owens, fish pond; Mrs. E. Boyd, Christmas cards; Mrs. F. Wheeler, Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. F. A. White, gifts $1 and under; Mrs. W. Smith, CGIT girls and Explorer girls, candy and knitted face cloths.

Mrs. W. Deaville was in charge of the nursery, assisted by older CGIT girls. Mrs. Irwin was general convenor and Mrs. John was in charge of decoration.

Choir Boys to Sing At Christmas Tea

The Women's Parish Guild, Christ Church Cathedral, will hold its annual Christmas tea in Memorial Hall on Wednesday.

The affair will be officially opened at 2 p.m. by Rev. G. W. Lang and a special attraction will be the singing of carols by the choir boys around 4 p.m. Mrs. R. Felton and Mrs. J. F. K. English are co-conveners.

There will be stalls of Christmas cakes, mince meat, home cooking, fancywork, aprons, white elephant. A special feature will be the sale of sacks of bark.

UCT Auxiliary Plans A Rummage Sale

A rummage sale will be held in the Public Market on Wednesday morning under auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary to United Commercial Travelers.

Proceeds of the sale will be donated to the Cerebral Palsy Clinic. There will be books, magazines, good used clothing and superfluities offered for sale.

Joining in Conversation Develops Self-Confidence

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

A real test of conversational ability is to be able to keep the talk going when you're alone with one person. A young woman writes:

(Q)—"My problem is that I am not a good conversationalist. In a crowd I'm all right, because I just ride along with the rest. But when I'm on a date, I get completely tongue-tied. I read somewhere to make a list of subjects to talk about and refer to it once or twice during the evening. I have tried this, and it just doesn't seem to work. I would appreciate any advice you would give me."

(A)—Making a list of topics will work if you use it right. In the first place, if possible, a list should fit the interests of the person you are going out with. Since all people have different interests, topics that would interest one might not interest another.

If you don't know the person well enough to know what his interests are, you will always be safe if you list topics that will relate to him. All people like to talk about themselves.

The second suggestion is to know your list well enough that you do not have to refer to it during the evening. This is likely to make you self-conscious, and it certainly will create the impression that you lack self-confidence.

My final suggestion is to get your conversational experience when you are with a crowd. True, it is easier to "ride along with the rest," but that will not give you the confidence you need to stand on your own feet.

Listen to how people you consider good conversationalists tackle the problem of keeping a conversation going. Do your share of the talking. The more experience you have of this sort, the better able you will be to tackle the problem when you are alone.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Lonely? Find Out Why And Try to Overcome It

Life is so full, yet there are many lonely people in the world. They are all around you, in your church, across the street, in the house, and at the desk next to you. What a wonderful time all the lonesome folks could have if they would just get together!

If YOU are lonely, sit down and try to find the reason for your loneliness. Is it because you honestly don't like people?

Is it because of self-consciousness? If so, why? Sometimes this is due to physical handicaps. If you are self-conscious because of such things as overweight, poor grooming, or complexion trouble, overcome them! There is an answer to every one.

Is it because you have been lazy about following up the gestures of friendship which others have made? This may be due to timidity, lack of money, laziness or procrastination, or a busy career.

Often shyness comes from lack of background. If you feel that you didn't have many of the advantages early in life which build poise and personality, it is not too late to develop them. If you are sincerely interested in becoming better educated so that you can enjoy the resources of others and yourself, you can do so through your own reading and study, your observations, and the habit of taking advantage of opportunities. If money is an item, there are many free concerts, art exhibits, the public library, other facilities for cultural development.

Don't be afraid to smile, to speak to those with whom you are thrown, to show them that you appreciate and enjoy them.

If you wish to have my leaflet which gives you practical suggestions for overcoming loneliness and self-consciousness, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 59 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Hams are easy to cook, easy to carve, and they definitely have a place on Christmas menu.

Ham Should Rank High in All Christmas Menu Plans

Hams are perfect for Christmas dinner. Little work, fine eating and no need to be watching the oven for hours.

For a last-minute holiday dinner it is the quick and easy answer, too.

Start your labor and time-saving dinner with cranberry juice punch. With the ham serve snowballs of small oranges, rolled in coconut. Serve canned, whole sweet potatoes in dark syrup, rich with pecans, and a frozen green vegetable, such as asparagus, Brussels sprouts, or dark broccoli with melted butter or margarine.

Next a shimmering tomato aspic molded in a holiday shape. Hot rolls with butter or margarine are a must. For dessert, peppermint ice cream with hot fudge sauce, or plum pudding or mince pie with cheese.

Mix ½ teaspoon powdered cloves with 1 cup honey. Score ham fat. Spread glaze over ham. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) until the surface forms a brown glaze.

SNOWBALL HAM GARNISH
Six small oranges, peeled, 1 ½ cup corn syrup, ¼ to 1 cup shredded coconut.

Spoon corn syrup over oranges. Roll oranges in coconut. Place around ham on platter. Snowballs may be wrapped in waxed paper and kept in refrigerator overnight.
(Yield: 6 snowballs.)

BAKED HAM, SOUTHERN STYLE.

Ten-pound ham, 2 tablespoons whole cloves, 1 stick cinnamon or 2 teaspoons powdered cinnamon, 1 cup sugar, 1 ½ cups vinegar, 2 cloves garlic (optional), 1 onion, 1 cup dark brown sugar, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, ¼ cup water.

Wash the ham carefully and place in a large saucepan with water to cover. Add 1 tablespoon of the cloves, the cinnamon, sugar, 1 cup of the vinegar, the garlic and onion. Bring to a boil, reduce to medium heat and simmer for 2 ½ hours. Remove from heat and let cool for 3 hours.

Remove the skin from the ham and then dry the ham. Place the remaining cloves in the ham at more or less regular intervals. Combine the brown sugar and dry mustard and rub into the ham well. Place in a baking pan and add the remaining vinegar and the water. Bake in a 350 degrees F. oven for 1 hour, basting frequently after the first 30 minutes.

Don't let the Yuletide season get too far along without serving a hot mince-meat pie topped with pastry stars and hard sauce. There are many kinds of prepared mince-meat on the market or you can make your own from scratch. If you use the prepared kind you may want to add extra light or dark seedless raisins and chopped apple.

How about serving supper to the tree trimmers? For a menu, how about this? Scrambled eggs topped with avocado balls in a chafing dish, grilled Canadian bacon garnished with broiled canned cling peaches and fresh California date and walnut muffins with honey. Have plenty of coffee, and for dessert pass tiny-raisin-chess-tarts.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Guild Makes $900 at Annual Yule Bazaar

Colvin, Mrs. W. Colvin, Mrs. Olive Johnson, Mrs. J. A. Miller and Miss Ann Draper. Tea tickets were in charge of Mrs. F. Lindsay and Mrs. W. T. Turner.

Those looking after the various stalls were Mrs. A. Hood, Mrs. G. Burnett and Miss Alice Jackson, baby wear; Mrs. W. R. Gunn, books; Mrs. A. Crofts, and then home. (CP photo.)

Mrs. W. Draper, Mrs. W. H. Lloyd, Mrs. G. Bowles, Mrs. A. Houston, Mrs. A. L. Stevenson, Mrs. John Wilson and Mrs. M. Hirst, home cooking; Mrs. J. W. Cameron, Mrs. H. Lloyd, Mrs. H. S. Mason, Mrs. D. Lloyd and Mr. W. Hogg, plants, fruit and vegetables.

With Premier

Mrs. Pierre Mendes-France, wife of the French premier, recently visited Canada with her husband. After their brief state visit they flew to Washington, books; Mrs. A. Crofts, and then home. (CP photo.)

This superb salad idea came from a famous Greenwich Village restaurant. Cut a smooth-skinned winter Calavo avocado into thirds and remove seed. Serve each section on a frilly lettuce leaf with a wine vinegar French dressing liberally seasoned with crushed oregano. Eat this with a spoon. Wonderful!

Whitey Dahl Convicted Of Stealing $30,000

GENEVA (AP) — Harold Whitey Dahl, 45-year-old American pilot, was convicted today of stealing $30,000 worth of gold from a passenger plane he was piloting from Paris to Geneva in October, 1953, and sentenced to two years in prison.

Court president Germain Pochon stipulated that three months and three weeks would be subtracted from the two-year sentence to compensate for the period Dahl spent in jail while the case was investigated. In addition, Dahl was sentenced to pay the costs of the trial and was expelled from Switzerland for 10 years.

The jury said Dahl "carried the gold from the plane and deposited it in the apartment of his mistress." The jury referred to Dahl's Swiss girl friend, Ella Eppenberger, a former Swissair Airlines hostess.

Dahl married Eleanor Bone of Belleville, Ont., daughter of former mayor Jamieson Bone of that city, while stationed at Trenton in 1941. Mrs. Dahl now is living in Belleville with their three children.

The prosecution charged Dahl used part of the gold—which has not been recovered—to finance four days of high living at Monte Carlo with Miss Eppenberger. Dahl said he won $10,000 from the gaming tables at the Riviera gambling resort and used that to pay for their stay.

Dahl, a globe-trotting pilot for years, flew in the Spanish civil war and also in Canada with the RCAF in Trenton, Ont., during the Second World War.

30% OF UBC STUDENTS ATTEND SOME CHURCH

VANCOUVER (CP)—Only about 30 per cent of University of B.C. students attend church, but religion is discussed more by Christians, agnostics and atheists than in society as a whole, Student Christian Movement president Roy Officer said today.

"A small minority of the non-church-goers are thinking agnostics, but most just don't care," he said in an interview. However, he said more people whether religious or not, are thinking and talking about religion and theological problems at the university than in the rest of society.

"We have a few agnostics in our religious study groups and find them a profitable addition to discussions," he said.

'Slowdown' In Shipyards Union Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—The joint shop stewards committee at Burrard Drydock here Saturday asked the national defense department to intervene in what the unionists call a deliberate 'slowdown' of naval work by the company.

The charge was denied by a company official. Marine Workers and Boilermakers (C.L.) and the Electrical Workers Union (C.E.U.) and the Machinists Union (A.F.) are still bargaining on a new contract.

The unionists charge "the deliberate curtailment of work" is attributed to the fact that wage negotiations for a 1954-55 contract are under way. Five AFL unions have settled on the basis of a five-cent-an-hour raise in two stages of a two-year contract.

Nelson-Nakusp Road Blocked by Slide

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—A temporary route was opened for traffic Sunday after a 40-foot chunk of the Nelson-Nakusp highway was ripped out by a mountain slide Saturday night.

Huge boulders smashed through the highway and an adjoining road to Vallican, 20 miles northwest of here. One boulder, weighing about 200 tons, headed for a farm home, then veered to the side and crushed a moving machine.

Public works crews expected to have the highway cleared by Tuesday night.

Blast at Royal Film Show Results in New Proposal

LONDON (Reuters)—A campaign against the method of selecting movies for the royal film shows has borne fruit. It was announced Saturday that "new ways" of picking a movie will be studied before next year's show for the Queen.

Most of Britain's film critics were outraged at this year's choice of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Beau Brummel," because it showed one ancestor going mad and another bursting into tears when refused permission to wed the "woman I love."

The Daily Express said Saturday that for the first time since the annual royal film shows started in 1946, the Royal Family had expressed disappointment at the choice. It quoted the Duke of Edinburgh as saying privately he was "flabbergasted" at the poor choice.

However on the night of the show, Nov. 15, the Queen was heard to remark on leaving the theatre: "It was a beautiful film and so well produced."

CHOSEN BY FILM MEN

The royal film show offering is selected yearly by a committee of the cinematograph trade benevolent fund composed mainly of film men. Fund president Reginald Bromhead said Saturday that in view of the outcry this year, the fund would consider new ways of choosing programs.

In one scene of "Beau Brummel," King George III, played by Robert Morley, engages in a lunatic game of hide-and-seek down the corridors of Windsor Castle—which is still a royal home.

In another scene, British actor Peter Ustinov, as King George IV, loafs in a bathtub while leeches are picked off his back.

Ustinov, in another scene, bursts into tears when he is refused permission to wed his loved one—interpreted by some critics as a tactless allusion to the Duke of Windsor's abdication of the British throne to wed Baltimore-born Wallis Simpson.

Lake Hill Site Suggested for Municipal Hall

Saanich Town Planning Commission has recommended that land at the east end of McKenzie Avenue, near Cedar Hill Cross Road in Lake Hill district be the site of a new municipal hall.

This information was revealed last week by planning expert James W. Wilson in an address to a Vancouver Island planning conference held under auspices of the Community Planning Association of Canada.

He gave special mention to the project by using it as an example of how a town planning commission should tackle such a job as was given to it earlier this year when Saanich council asked for advice on where would be a good site for a new municipal hall.

He said the commission based its conclusion on three factors:

1. The site specified is the centre of Saanich's population;
2. It will be readily accessible because of present roads and proposed roads;
3. It is considered a good site from the administration point of view.

Mr. Wilson said the commission's site was "something of an upset to a few who had preconceived notions of where the centre of population was situated."

Certificates of completed apprenticeship were presented to four HMC Dockyard civilian employees last week.

They are: G. A. Adlington, H. D. Andrews, R. I. Douglas and W. D. Lane.

Time Capsule Will Preserve Nanaimo Centenary Record

NANAIMO—This city marked its first 100 years as an organized community Saturday with the burying of a time capsule containing a full record of its first century and the celebration of same.

It will be opened Nov. 27, 2054.

On "Princess Royal Day" a small lead casket, measuring roughly 12 by 10 inches and 10 inches high, was filled with pictures of the Princess Royal pageant, tape recordings of the celebrations, copies of daily newspapers and records of the city's growth.

At 2 p.m. it was sealed into a concrete vault on Pioneer Rock, site of the landing of the Princess Royal pioneers Nov. 27, 1854, and of a pageant re-naturing the event a few hours previously.

George, Molecey, organizer and instigator of the celebration, conducted the ceremony and introduced Mayor George Muir, who in turn introduced A. J. Gilbert, manager of the HBC in Vancouver.

"I'm proud to represent the company, not only because of the great role it plays in the economy of Canada, but because in days gone by it was the greatest single factor in opening up the nation," he said.

Mr. Gilbert read a message of congratulations on the ceremony from W. J. Tessick, governor of the HBC in London.

Town Planning Need Stressed By Engineer

Proper planning is necessary in all growing centres of population, James W. Wilson, consultant engineer to the Capital Region Planning Board, said in an address to the Vancouver Island conference of the Community Planning Association of Canada.

"The aim of planning," he told the 100 delegates, "is to produce order in the community. Not order for order's sake, but order for efficiency. Paradoxical as it may seem, order is the way to freedom. Imagine," he suggested, "what sort of a mess we would have if there were no traffic regulations."

"Planners," he continued, "must deal with a dynamic sort of order. We are not just creating a pretty picture. Our job is directed toward getting things done."

CHAOS OTHERWISE

"The alternative to planning is chaos."

No person and no section of a community can escape being effected by the efficiency or inefficiency of the community as a whole, he said. A planner's job, he explained, was to provide residents of the community with "a good pleasant, efficient, safe environment."

He said the charge was often raised by those who objected to planning that planning was undemocratic.

"That sort of talk is pure poppycock," he answered.

"If people will insist on living together in big communities, then they must submit themselves to some measure of control for the public good."

SAVED AFTER 11 HOURS IN FRASER RIVER

LADNER, B.C. (CP)—A fisherman was rescued from the frigid waters of the Fraser Sunday after spending 11 hours clinging to the mast of his submerged gill-netter.

Rescued was William Heikkila of Ladner, who was plucked to safety by duck hunter Nick Synco.

Heikkila said his boat ran aground in a fog Saturday night and sank. He clung to the top of the mast and shouted for help all through the night.

Man Who Killed Crusading Editor Prison Escapee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Patrick Eugene McDermott, 53, who shot and killed a vice-crusading Canton editor in 1926, walked away from an honor dormitory at Ohio penitentiary here Sunday in the company of a woman who had been visiting him.

It was McDermott's second escape from the institution since he was sentenced to life imprisonment Jan. 12, 1927, for the murder of Don R. Melleff, editor of the Canton Daily News, on the night of July 16, 1926.

Melleff was shot down as he put his automobile in a garage at this home.

Malenkov Drinks Tito's Health At Yugoslav Embassy Party

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier France as well as with the Soviet Union. This year they had all the Soviet leaders—Malenkov, Molotov, Khrushchev, Defense Minister Nikolai Bulganin, chief planner Maxim Saburov and Marshal Georgi Shukov. The Yugoslav ambassador said it was the most enjoyable party he ever gave and he hoped relations between Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union could be improved.

Khrushchev emphasized this statement with gestures, including poking the Yugoslav ambassador in his chest with his forefinger. This was the plushiest reception given by the Yugoslavs since resumption of relations with the Soviet Union. Last year only Andrei Gromyko, a deputy foreign minister, showed up for their party.

The toast was proposed by Khrushchev, who said he also wanted to drink to the health of the Yugoslav people. This was a new milestone in Moscow's efforts to heal the breach between the Soviet Union and Tito's Yugoslavia, which dates back to the Cominform split in 1948.

Before proposing the toast, Khrushchev commented to Yugoslav's Ambassador Dobri Vidic: "I want Yugoslavia to be friends with all countries—the United States, Britain and

Second White Line Studied As Aid to Night Driving

MONTREAL (CP) — An American research engineer has come up with an idea that may ease the eye straining job of trying to see the white centre line on a highway through the glare of an approaching car's headlights. The idea is simple: another white line on the right-hand side of the highway. Dr. John V. N. Dorr of Westport, Conn., says it has already been tried out with some success in his home state.

Dr. Dorr, interviewed while here on business, said tests showed drivers developed a "sense of security" when they could keep a steady course by following a line on the outside edge of the road.

Britons Agog Over Churchill

Biggest Display of Public Esteem Planned for PM's 80th Birthday

By STANLEY GODFREY

LONDON (AP)—Britons are planning one of the biggest displays of public affection ever seen in these islands for Sir Winston Churchill on his 80th birthday Tuesday.

$280,000 IN CASH FOR WINNIE

LONDON (BUP)—Prime Minister Churchill will receive at least $280,000 on his 80th birthday Tuesday as a gift from the British Commonwealth, it was announced today.

Lord Moynihan, organizer of the Churchill Birthday Fund, said more than 100,000 persons have subscribed and contributions are still pouring in.

Sponsors of the Churchill birthday presentation fund disclosed they have received one anonymous donation of 11 Russian rubles. Another donor sent a cheque for 29,220 farthings—one for each day of Churchill's life, and not forgetting the leap years. A farthing is a quarter of a British penny, and 29,220 of them are worth $85.22.

St. Laurent Sends Salute From Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent on behalf of Canada Sunday night sent a birthday salute to Sir Winston Churchill who will be 80 next Tuesday.

In a statement Mr. St. Laurent said: "In this country we recall with heartfelt admiration and gratitude the peerless leadership he gave us all in the grim days of the war when the Commonwealth, unaided, was fighting the forces of evil. Sir Winston on those days had become far more than the prime minister of any one country; for all of us his voice was the voice of human freedom and he represented the symbol of unconquerable spirit of free men and women faced with terrible odds.

"Even with victory won, Sir Winston chose not to stand on his already matchless record but to continue to devote unstintingly his great talents of statesmanship to securing the peace.

"Canadians remember his immeasurable service in the cause of freedom in war and peace and they send affectionate greetings to Sir Winston Churchill on his birthday anniversary and wish him strength for the burdens which still lie ahead."

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—President Eisenhower saluted Winston Churchill today as "world statesman" in a message to the British prime minister, who will be 80 Tuesday.

The president saluted Churchill as "world statesman, as an unconquerable warrior in the cause of freedom, as our proven friend of many valiant years."

"We have seen the great Anglo-American partnership grow and flourish, with you as one of the staunch advocates," Mr. Eisenhower said. "In the dark times of war, and the anxious ones of uncertain peace, this partnership has sustained us all and given us strength."

Mr. Eisenhower also sent Churchill a personal greeting which was not made public.

His health will be drunk in pubs and clubs throughout Britain. The two houses of Parliament will join in a session of tribute.

There will be gifts for the prime minister ranging from a few tea leaves to a check for something like £100,000, which represents a worldwide shower of donations to the Sir Winston Churchill Birthday Presentation Fund. One guess is that Sir Winston will use the money to set up an international humanitarian fund.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT The prime minister must sandwich the festivities into a busy round of affairs of state. The birthday coincides with a formal opening of Parliament.

The usually late-to-bed prime minister will start his birthday celebration with a special cup of tea. The tea—two spoonfuls in an envelope with a little sugar—was sent to Churchill as "the only present I can afford" by someone signing himself "an old-age pensioner."

Organizers of the birthday fund said the prime minister, touched by the gift, was reserving it to be drunk in bed as an eye opener.

After breakfast he will dress in a morning coat with tails, striped pants and a silk topper for the opening of Parliament.

The Queen will make a ceremonial drive from Buckingham Palace to Whitehall and pomp and pageantry which will set the pace for the rest of the day.

After the Queen has read out the Conservative government's legislative program for the coming year from her gilded throne in the House of Lords, the peers and members of the Commons will troop across to Westminster Hall to give Sir Winston a portrait of himself painted by Graham Sutherland.

The prime minister also will receive a massive leather-bound book containing signatures of Commons members. The front cover is emblazoned in gold with the Churchill coat of arms encircled by the Garter, Britain's highest order of chivalry.

This ceremony will be televised and recorded for transmission to Commonwealth countries.

VOLUME OF TRIBUTES Afterwards Sir Winston will receive a specially-printed volume of tributes from old friends titled: "Winston Spencer Churchill, servant of the Crown and Commonwealth." The contributors include Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the Aga Khan and an old American friend, Bernard Baruch.

In the afternoon, the prime minister returns to the Commons to make the traditional speech opening the first business session of Parliament. Later, a celebration is planned for him in the House of Lords.

Then in his study at 10 Downing Street, Sir Winston will receive the birthday fund cheque, the first instalment of a snowballing appeal. It began with a letter to a newspaper from an old couple living in rural Chichester suggesting a public collection to show the country's affection. The idea caught on quickly and admirers set up the birthday fund. Donations, from many parts of the world, have ranged from £10,000 to pennies from children.

Sir Winston's day will end with close friends after a family dinner.

Celebrates 80th Birthday Tomorrow

Britain's famous leader, Sir Winston Churchill, will celebrate his 80th birthday tomorrow. As Sir Winston looks back over his colorful career, tributes will pour in from all corners of the globe. Britain has arranged the

Geo. Robey Dies at 85

SALTDEAN, England (Reuters)—Sir George Robey, 85, the "prime minister of mirth" whose tattered old frock coat and bulbous red nose were the trademarks of one of Britain's best loved music hall comedians, died at his home here today. He spent 63 years on the stage.

He was knighted in the New Year's honors list this year, and received the accolade from the Queen Mother, sitting in his wheelchair.

Although he made his reputation in music hall, he also appeared between the wars on the legitimate stage. One of his notable successes was the role of Falstaff in Shakespeare's "Henry IV."

He also played Saneha Panza to Chaliapin's Don Quixote in the motion picture of that name, and Tony Weller in the screen production of Pickwick Papers. He took a touring company to Canada as long ago as 1925.

Youth Killed KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Lawrence Downer, 19, of Vernon was killed Sunday when his car rolled over on the highway near here.

Scientist Dead

Private funeral services were held today for Enrico Fermi, Italian scientist who unlocked the door through which the world entered the atomic age. Fermi, 53, died Sunday of cancer. (See page 3.)

THE DUNKIRK EVACUATION— HIS FINEST HOUR

So long as the English language survives the tongues and minds of free men everywhere will recall with reverence the speech of Sir Winston Churchill, who, as Britain's indomitable wartime leader, rallied the forces of democracy from the shadows of disaster after the defeat of British and French arms by Hitler's hordes on the bloody beaches of Dunkirk. On the eve of Sir Winston's 80th birthday The Times reprints an extract from his speech on evacuation of Dunkirk, June 4, 1940.

I HAVE, myself, full confidence that if all do their duty, if nothing is neglected, and if the best arrangements are made, as they are being made, we shall prove ourselves once again able to defend our island home, to ride out the storm of war, and to outlive the menace of tyranny, if necessary for years, if necessary alone. At any rate, that is what we are going to try to do. That is the resolve of His Majesty's government—every man of them. That is the will of Parliament and the nation. The British Empire and the French Republic, linked together in their cause and in their need, will defend to the death their native soil, aiding each other like good comrades to the utmost of their strength. Even though large tracts of Europe and many old and famous States have fallen or may fall into the grip of the Gestapo and all the odious apparatus of Nazi rule, we shall not flag or fail. We shall go on to the end, we shall fight in France, we shall fight on the seas and oceans, we shall fight with growing confidence and growing strength in the air, we shall defend our island whatever the cost may be, we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender, and even if, which I do not for a moment believe, this island or a large part of it were subjugated and starving, then our Empire beyond the seas, armed and guarded by the British Fleet, would carry on the struggle, until, in God's good time, the new world, with all its power and might, steps forth to the rescue and the liberation of the old.

Grandma Says She Killed Four Husbands

Suspected in 7 Other Deaths

(From UP, AP Dispatches)

TULSA, Okla. — A rosy-cheeked "lonely hearts" widow and grandmother who confessed poisoning four of her five husbands apparently killed them "just because they rubbed her the wrong way," authorities said today.

Mrs. Nanette Doss, 49 and pudgy, also is suspected of poisoning her mother, father, two sisters, two daughters and a step-grandson.

She gave police a gap-toothed smile Sunday night when she confessed she killed husbands 2, 3, 4 and 5, "the same way... with rat poison."

The only survivor was husband No. 1, Charles Bragg of Alabama City, Ala., who admitted fear was one reason why he divorced her in 1929 after eight years of marriage.

Tulsa County Attorney Howard Edmondson, who drew up murder charges against the plump widow today, said, "she gave us a different reason for killing every one of them."

NOT FOR MONEY

"She would not have done it for insurance," he said. "She didn't get enough to more than pay funeral expenses. Apparently, she killed them just because they rubbed her the wrong way."

Mrs. Doss showed no remorse and said repeatedly, "my conscience is clear," as she told of the four killings.

At one stage an officer asked her, "which one are you going to tell us about next?"

She giggled and answered, "I'm real sorry you boys have to stay up so late to bother with me. I know you must be tired."

Officers then put her to bed, although they continued investigation regarding the mysterious deaths of other relatives.

CHARGE FILED

Edmondson said a murder charge will be filed today against the 49-year-old plumpish, jovial widow for the Oct. 6 death of Samuel Doss, 58, of Tulsa.

Edmondson said the other poisoned husbands and the dates they died are:

Frank Harrelson, Jacksonville, Ala., 1945; Harley Laning, Lexington, N.C., 1952; and Richard L. Morton, 64, Emporia, Kan., May 19, 1953.

Two Ships Reported In Distress; 12 Dead

(From UP and CP Dispatches)

LONDON—A severe new Atlantic gale slammed into southern Britain today, threatening to add to the death and destruction caused by four days of winds and floods.

Pelting rain, driven by high winds battered punch-drunk channel shipping and forced frogmen to abandon the hulk of a lightship where seven men were feared dead after a week-end blow capsized it.

The new gale whipped in from the Atlantic at noon and headed northward through England and Wales.

The latest blow hurled new havoc at the English Channel coast where two ships were reported in distress.

Inland, three construction workers plunged 40 feet to their death when wind-buffed scaffolding collapsed, bringing the week-end storm toll to 12.

The Admiralty received a distress call from a small freighter identified only as "Gustaf," 20 miles north of the Channel Islands. A Guernsey lifeboat, the Royal Navy minesweeper Apollo and three steamers rushed to its aid.

"Leaking and need help in heavy seas," the vessel's message said. "Ship heeled over, badly leaking, conditions very bad."

The Swanage lifeboat set out from the Dorset coast after distress signals were received from another vessel about 30 miles offshore. It was not immediately identified.

Meanwhile, rains from the week-end storm caused upland tributaries to pour into the River Thames and bring flooding to 21 counties.

In its path in the heaving Irish Sea were two halves of a split tanker, the World Concord. Both sections of the broken ship were in tow but a warship was standing by with guns ready to fire upon and sink the hulks if towlines snapped under the force of the storm.

A Welsh lifeboat crew plucked 35 crewmen from the rear section of the World Concord Saturday. Coast guardsmen, braving perilous seas, rescued seven others, including the skipper, from the forward section Sunday.

In the English Channel off Dover, Royal Navy frogmen found the body of one of the seven missing men who were considered lost when the South Goodwin lightship capsized Saturday.

As soon as a radio message reported the finding of the first body, ships on the channel and in the neighboring Thames estuary hauled their flags to half-staff.

Almost at the same time, the red cones that signal the approach of another gale were hoisted up along the south and west coasts of England.

In some areas farmers reported disastrous losses of crops.

Coastal towns meanwhile went to work clearing away the debris left by five days of gales which smashed beach huts and boats, knocked holes in sea walls, blew down hundreds of telephone poles and trees.

Farmers in many parts of England and Wales were in despair, with their fields so saturated they could neither harvest root, wheat, pea and hay crops nor sow their winter wheat.

More than 20,000 acres of wheat remained uncut and on a still greater acreage wheat which was cut lay rotting in the mud. Tractors and harvesting combines were mired by the

WINNIPEG WELCOMES JOYOUS EDMONTON FANS

One Esk Supporter Reported To Have Won $50,000 in Bets

WINNIPEG (CP)—Edmonton football fans homeward bound today were a mighty happy crew.

They accomplished what they set out to do. Their Eskimos were returning home with the Grey Cup after a 26-25 victory over Montreal Alouettes in Toronto Saturday.

And the fans themselves were joyously fingering all the eastern money in their wallets.

For at odds ranging from even money on a 13-point spread to 5-to-1, "Everyone made money," said Tommy Visser, one of the fans who passed through Winnipeg today aboard the CPR special that arrives in Edmonton Tuesday.

Mr. Visser said one Edmonton fan, whom he did not identify, made $50,000 in bets. Another made $3,000 and yet another, $4,500, he said.

Most fans had regained their voices after a week-end of merry-making. Mrs. Mamie McNabb, vice-president of the Eskimos' Ladies Quarterback Club, said the Toronto reception was "terrific" and Saturday's game "the most exciting and dramatic" she had ever seen.

The scene at the CPR station—where fans swirled along the concourse singing and snare-dancing—was duplicated at the CNR station where a second special train stopped over for several minutes.

Those who could sing chanted: "The old Grey Cup, it's go home to Edmonton, and 'Has Walker, way down yonder in

Massive Tribute
For Churchill on 80th Birthday

By STANLEY GODFREY

LONDON (AP)—Britons are planning one of the biggest displays of public affection ever seen in these islands for Sir Winston Churchill on his 80th birthday Tuesday.

His health will be drunk in pubs and clubs throughout Britain. The two houses of Parliament will join in a session of tribute.

There will be gifts for the prime minister ranging from a few tea leaves to a check for something like £100,000, which represents a worldwide shower of donations to the Sir Winston Churchill Birthday Presentation Fund. One guess is that Sir Winston will use the money to set up an international humanitarian fund.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT

The prime minister must sandwich the festivities into a busy round of affairs of state. The birthday coincides with a formal opening of Parliament.

The usually late-to-bed prime minister will start his birthday celebration with a special cup of tea. The tea—two spoonsful in an envelope with a little sugar—was sent to Churchill as "the only present I can afford" by someone signing himself "an old-age pensioner."

Organizers of the birthday fund said the prime minister, touched by the gift, was reserving it to be drunk in bed as an eye opener.

After breakfast he will dress in a morning coat with tails, striped pants and a silk top for the opening of Parliament.

Chief Justice Sloan Asked
To Undertake New Inquiry

Premier Bennett announced this afternoon he has asked Chief Justice Gordon McC. Sloan to conduct another inquiry into the forest industry of the Province.

He said he expected a reply within the next few days from the chief justice, who has just returned from completing the adjudication of Canadian 111-way workers' labor conditions in Ottawa.

The chief justice is the man who conducted far-reaching investigation of B.C.'s forestry and industry in 1944-45.

His historic report resulted in the setting up of the forest management licensing system and a new concept of developing the forests on a sustained yield basis.

After nearly eight years of experience under the new legislation, there has been considerable pressure within the last year for another look at the whole situation by competent experts.

In his 1945 report, Mr. Sloan himself suggested that another investigation should take place within about 10 years.

This period has now almost expired.

Sir Winston on those days had become far more than the prime minister of any one country; for all of us his voice was the voice of human freedom and he represented the symbol of unconquerable spirit of free men and women faced with terrible odds."
